Wholesale Prices Soar to Record In Biggest Jump

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With farm prices soaring at a record rate, wholesale prices made the biggest one-month jump in August since World War II, the government reported today, dealing inflation-weary consumers and President Nixon's stabilization program another sharp blow.

Freed from the restraints of the price freeze, farm prices shot up by 23 per cent—more than three times the previous record for a month.

That pushed the overall wholesale price index up 5.8 per cent, the highest surge for any month since a 10.7 per cent jump in July, 1946, the Labor Department said.

Despite constraints of the administration's economic controls, August wholesale prices were 19 per cent higher than the level at the comparable time in 1972.

In a separate report, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported little change in the nation's employment picture in August.

Uenmployment edged up to 4.8 per cent of the labor force compared to 4.7 per cent a month earlier. Such fractional changes are regarded as insignificant. The number of Americans holding jobs remained stable for the second straight month.

About one quarter of persons out of work in August were teenagers.

The big August wholesale price rise followed an unusual 1.3 per cent decline in July, when nearly all commodities were constrained by the freeze. Administration economists had said at the time that the price freeze caused this and predicted a surge after most restrictions on food were lifted July 18.

When adjusted for seasonal variation, overall wholesale prices went up even more than the 5.8 unadjusted rate. The adjusted increase in August of 6.2 per cent was the biggest since the government began calculating seasonal considerations in 1947.

The biggest jump in prices in the farm sector were for livestock, grains and oil seeds. Prices of fresh and dried fruits and vegetables dropped sharply.

Wholesale prices for consumer foods jumped 9.1 per cent last month but consumer goods excluding foods edged up only 0.1 per cent. Consumer-finished goods, a sample of commodities that compares with the government's consumer price index, gained 3.8 per cent.

The August farm price surge was led by a 57 per cent jump in the price of hay, hayseeds and oil seeds, which play a key role in livestock feed. Grain prices soared 70 per cent, egg prices 35 per cent and live poultry prices 42 per cent.

In other economic news, government officials said the Cost of Living Council was close to a decision on whether to allow price increases for the steel and auto industries. A decision could come today.

Retail gasoline sales come out from under the price freeze at midnight tonight but new Phase IV price ceilings are so tight that many service stations are expected to have to lower their current selling prices.

Beginning Saturday, drivers should find the ceiling price and octane rating marked on a special government sticker on every gasoline pump.

Wholesale prices shot up last month because farm and processed food prices went sky high after mid-July, when the price freeze was lifted on all food except beef. Ceilings on beef expire next Wednesday.

Since the August wholesale report was compiled, however, some key commodity prices have declined.

In conversation with Shultz Thursday, Nixon noted that soybeans had dropped from $10.26 a bushel in the week of Aug. 13 to $7 in the week of Sept. 5. Corn prices declined from $3.24 to $2.31 a bushel in the same period.

"This may show that our approach in terms of getting food supplies up may be beginning to bear some fruit," Nixon told Shultz.

THE FIRST WOMAN—Miss Regina M. Robbins of New Woodstock is a conspicuous figure as the newest class of New York State troopers takes the police oath at Albany Thursday. Miss Robbins became the first woman in history to join the state police force. Meanwhile, four other women who were to have been inducted yesterday are awaiting a State Supreme Court ruling on a suit by an unsuccessful male trooper candidate who claims he scored higher marks on his entrance exam than the four women selected over him. Among those waiting: Pamela Bowers of Bloomington, a former security guard at New Paltz State University and the daughter of New Paltz Village Police Chief Harold Bowers. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Board Approves Teachers' Pact

By CARL GRAHAM

KINGSTON

The Board of Education of the Kingston City Schools Consolidated Thursday night approved a contract with the Kingston Teachers Federation for the 1973-74 school year.

The new contract includes a $100-per-teacher group dental plan that had proved a major stumbling block in contract negotiations and that accounted for three "no" votes and one abstention when the contract came before the nine-member board.

The district's teachers will give up a 100 annual bonus paid to permanently certified teachers to help finance the plan. Louis A. Salzman, said the district would put approximately $4,000 into the plan. Teacher contributions will total $46,000.

With one exception, all recommendations of a Public Employment Relations Board fact finder were incorporated into the contract, including a $350 across-the-board pay raise for teachers on Steps 1-14 of the salary scale and $500 for those on the 15th (top) step; no change in the elementary work week during the final week of school; changes in the number of speech therapists in the district; and no modification of the current (five year) tenure provisions.

The only item deleted was a recommendation for "open campus" at junior high schools during ninth periods, with students not engaged in extracurricular activities allowed to go home instead of sitting in home rooms. Mrs. Barbara Kleckner, KTF president said teachers had agreed to drop the item to facilitate the settlement, but that it might be reintroduced in future contract negotiations.

"We didn't get all we wanted, but we are very pleased about the dental plan," Mrs. Kleckner said of the contract.

The vote saw James T. Owens, W. James Penrose, and Harold E. Keator Jr., the board president, voting against ratification, with Mrs. Evelyn Corsones abstaining. Voting for ratification were Thomas Reynolds, Joseph Feraca, Ward D. Todd, Mrs. Marianne Darrow, and H. Peter Hoffman. All those who voted against ratification or who abstained said that their objections to the contract were based on inclusion of the dental plan.

Salzmann said that the district's opening day enrollment was following statewide patterns, with the district total down 192 from last year. Most of the decline is concentrated in the lower grades, with kindergarten enrollment down about 100 from last year, Salzmann said.

Salzmann told the board that the Save the Children Foundation, a group that collects clothing for indigent children, had notified the district that it had collected so much clothing last year that it does not have enough money to process it. ACTF asked the district to collect money instead of clothing this year, but on Salzmann's recommendation the board denied the request, saying it would consider donating clothing again in the future.

Keator announced that the board, in line with the policy adopted last year, would continue to hold meetings at various schools in the district. The next meeting, scheduled for October 4, will be held in the Lake Katrine Elementary School.

Five Indicted in Superfecta Probe

By United Press International

Five men have been indicted and 11 other persons arrested in connection with a multimillion dollar scheme to fix superfecta races, according to records in Brooklyn Federal Court.

Court records showed Thursday that five were indicted and 10 others arrested for perjury. In additon, a Queens, N.Y., woman was arrested for reportedly making a false statement to the Internal Revenue Service.

Sources close to the investigation by the FBI and the Federal Strike Force Against Organized Crime in Brooklyn said the 15 were only "10 per centers," who placed bets for the fixers for 10 per cent of the winnings.

All those arrested were released pending grand jury action.

The sources said more indictments would be handed up by the end of this month, possibly naming the alleged mastermind of the scheme and those drivers at the harness tracks involved — Monticello, Yonkers and Roosevelt—who allegedly were bribed to hold back horses.

In superfecta races, the bettor must pick the first four horses in the exact order of finish. Under the alleged scheme, the fixers allegedly bribed drivers to finish no better than fifth and then hired third parties to play all possible combinations. Superfecta payoffs were large, the record being $111,912 for a $3.00 bet.

Sources said the fixers netted more than $2 million this year before such races were suspended April 15 at all state tracks at the suggestion of the FBI.

However, Leon Greenberg, president of Monticello Raceway, and George M. Levy, president of Roosevelt Raceway, denied Thursday their tracks were involved.

"I have been in contact with the reliable sources close to the federal investigation and they have assured me that at no time has anyone been under surveillance, questioned or inferred in any scandal here at Monticello Raceway," Greenberg said.

Levy said he had "complete confidence in the integrity of our drivers..."

Published reports have indicated the fixing scheme has organized crime connections but sources rejected that possiblity.

John Brennan, of Harness Track Security Inc., an agency which investigates all major harness tracks in North America, said "I've been expecting 10 per center indictments but I didn't expect drivers to be involved."

Saga of Guerrillas Continues

KUWAIT (UPI) — Arab guerrillas holding Saudi Arabian diplomats hostage today demanded that Kuwaiti and Saudi Arabian ministers go to Amman and pressure Jordanian officials to free a jailed Palestinian guerrilla. Otherwise the guerrillas threatened to kill their hostages by throwing them from the plane while in the air.

The guerrillas issued Kuwaiti authorities negotiating from the airport control tower to the plane on the runway a 12-hour deadline to deliver the jailed guerrilla chieftain, Abou Daoud, airport sources said.

The guerrillas apparently were foiled in an earlier effort to negotiate directly with Saudi officials in Riyadh, the capital of Saudi Arabia. They forced their Kuwait Airways 707 plane to fly over Saudi Arabia for 3½ hours, approaching both Riyadh and Amman, but did not land at either airport.

After talking by radio to Saudi deputy interior minister Prince Nayef Ben Abdel Aziz, according to Saudi Jeddah radio, the guerrillas ordered the plane to return to Kuwait, a small oil-rich nation on the Persian Gulf south of Iraq, where they landed at 12:35 p.m.

The Saudi broadcast said Prince Nayef told the guerrillas: "Saudi Arabia cannot meet a demand which is beyond its will and ability, nor can it make a promise which it cannot fulfill." The radio said this was the Saudi reply to the guerrilla demand for the release of Abou Daoud in return for the Saudi hostages.

It said Prince Nayef also asked the guerrillas to land at Riyad airport. He reminded them of Saudi Arabia's services to the Arab cause and its "assistance to honest commando action, both openly and secretly."

Kuwait radio said that when the plane returned, negotiations resumed between the guerrillas and Sheikh Saad Al Abdallah, minister of defense and interior.

Sheikh Saad, who negotiated with the guerrillas during their eight-hour overnight stopover, talked to the guerrillas by radio from the control tower.

Airport officials here said the guerrillas repeated their demand for the release of Abou Daoud, a leader of the Al Fatah Palestinian guerrilla organization serving a life sentence in Jordan. He was sentenced to death by a Jordanian military court last February for an abortive plot to kidnap Jordanian ministers.

King Hussein later commuted the sentence to life imprisonment after Black September guerrillas invaded the Saudi Arabian embassy in Khartoum, the Sudan last March and executed two American and one Belgian diplomats.

Grow-Your-Own Marijuana

WALLKILL

Two Wallkill residents, apparently engaged in a grow-your-own operation, were arrested Thursday by state police on charges of possessing 125 pounds of recently harvested marijuana.

Under the new state narcotics law which went into effect Sept. 1, William Suserud, 36, and Ann Marie Apostolitis, 23, both of RD 2, Wallkill were charged with fifth degree possession of a controlled substance, a class C felony punishable by from one to 15 years in prison if convicted.

The alleged marijuana was seized from a barn at the residence of the two persons on Albany Post Road, approximately two miles north of Wallkill.

Police said the marijuana had been grown at that location and that they have known about its existence for about a month, but had been maintaining surveillance on the growing marijuana in order to determine who possessed it.

The drug had been recently harvested and placed in the barn for drying purposes, police said.

Hurley BCI Investigators C. S. Van Wagenen, W. E. Wiedemann and S. E. Miller in conjunction with uniformed troopers from the Highland barracks raided the barn during the early afternoon, seizing the drying plants and arresting the woman.

Police said Suserud, who was not at the residence at the time of the raid, turned himself in to police later in the afternoon.

Suserud was additionally charged with felonious possession of a dangerous weapon after a loaded .25-caliber automatic pistol was found during a search of the area, according to police.

Police initially estimated the value of the unprocessed marijuana at about $2,000.

Suserud and Miss Apostolitis were arraigned before Gardiner Town Justice Samuel Stokes. They were confined in Ulster County Jail in lieu of $2,500 bail each to await reappearance on Monday.

In another case, a 33-year-old man wanted for allegedly selling two pounds of cocaine to New York City undercover narcotics officers, was arrested Thursday night with two other persons after state and city police raided his Sullivan County home in Mountaindale.

State police identified the suspects as Michael Robert Morton of Mountaindale, Lawrence Shamis, 35, and his wife, Carol Irene, 30 of Rock Hill.

Police said Morton was wanted on a warrant by city police for allegedly selling two pounds of cocaine to undercover officers in Manhattan some time before the date the state's new drug law went into effect.

Shamis and his wife were not involved in the alleged sale, police said, but were charged with loitering and possession of a small quantity of marijuana found during a search.

Prosecutor After Boyle Arrest . . .

'This Is Where It Ends'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "This is where the case began and this is where it ends," prosecutor Richard A. Sprague said as he announced charges of murder against former United Mine Workers President W.A. "Tony" Boyle in the 1969 Yablonski killings.

Boyle and one of his former deputies, William J. Turnblazer, were arrested Thursday in the killings of Joseph A. Yablonski, his wife and daughter.

Boyle and Turnblazer are the eighth and ninth persons charged in the murders of Yablonski, a union insurgent whose dissident movement shook Boyle's leadership in 1969 and later toppled him from the UMW's top post.

According to affidavits released by Sprague, the special prosecutor in the case, the information leading to Boyle's arrest was supplied by Turnblazer. Turnblazer, 52, president of a UMW district in Kentucky, pleaded guilty Thursday in federal court in Pittsburgh to an indictment charging the violation of Yablonski's civil rights.

Boyle, 71, was arrested in Washington Thursday on the same federal conspiracy indictment. A Sept. 25 removal hearing was set. Boyle can not be formally arraigned on the three Pennsylvania murder charges until he appears in that state. Conviction of either the federal conspiracy indictment or the state murder charges could carry a sentence of life in prison.

According to the murder complaints against Boyle and Turnblazer, the deposed union leader "initiated and instigated a plan to assassinate and murder . . . Yablonski," who had lost an election to unseat Boyle. The election was three weeks before the Yablonski murder.

"The case against him (Boyle), frankly, is enormous," a spokesman for Sprague said.

"I don't know what it's all about," Boyle told reporters after being arrested in a Washington law office.

Joseph A. Yablonski Jr., a Washington attorney who was present at Boyle's arrest, said, "We've waited a long time."

The most recent trial in the Yablonski case ended in the conviction of Albert Pass, like Turnblazer an official of UMW District 19. The spokesman for Sprague said the investigation into charges against Boyle entered its final phase immediately after the Pass verdict.

In the criminal complaint filed with Common Pleas Judge Thomas D. Gladden in Washington, Pa., Boyle is alleged to have told Turnblazer and Pass on June 23, 1969:

"Yablonski ought to be killed or done away with."

Turnblazer alleged that "Pass then offered to accept the assignment and stated that District 19 would take care of it."

Turnblazer said Pass later told him Boyle "has made arrangements for them to obtain approximately $20,000 from the treasury of the UMW International to pay for the assassination."

The government said Yablonski was killed mainly to keep him from testifying before a federal grand jury investigating union finances.

The bullet-riddled bodies of Yablonski, 59; his wife Dorothy, 57, and their daughter Charlotte, 25, were found in their Clarksville, Pa., home on Jan. 5, 1970. They had been dead several days.

Inmates Release 10 Guards After Tear Gas Warning

JOLIET, Ill. (AP) — Ten guards held hostage for nearly nine hours by 270 inmates at Stateville Penitentiary were released Thursday night after authorities threatened to move in with tear gas.

One hostage had a bloody nose and puffy face, and an inmate suffered a broken arm in a fall, officials said. There were no other reports of injuries.

Allyn Sielaff, director of the Illinois Department of Corrections, said he told the prisoners a force of 100 prison security officers and 90 state policemen was prepared to move in with tear gas. He gave them 15 minutes to release the guards.

The hostages were released on by one after Sielaff met with th inmates to discuss their complaints. He had said earlier there would be no negotiations while the guards were held captive.

Sielaff said hostages were visibly shaken, one cried and another had a bloody nose and puffy face.

One hostage, who has a heart condition, was taken to a hospital as a precautionary measure.

Sielaff, who was named director of the corrections department about two months ago, flew to the prison from Springfield shortly after the disturbance began.

The inmates took the guards captive as they returned to their cells following a noontime meal.

2nd Anniversary Memorial Services Sunday at Attica

ATTICA, N.Y. (AP)—Memorial services will be held at Attica prison Sunday, marking the second anniversary of the riot that claimed 43 lives.

The service in front of the prison in this Western New York village will feature speeches by Assemblyman Arthur O. Even, D-Erie; several former Attica inmates who are under indictment on charges related to the rebellion, and Mrs. Laverne Barkley, mother of a prisoner who was killed during the uprising.

Meanwhile, inside the prison, the inmates will hold their own service. Ernest L. Montanye, superintendent of the prison, said the inmates had requested the service and that it would be a quiet affair.

Roughly one-quarter of Attica's present 1,200 inmates were at the prison at the time of the Sept. 9-13 1971, rebellion.

The Attica Defense Committee, which has been coordinating the legal defense of some of the 60 men indicted, said workshops on the pending trials and on prison reform would be held Monday through Wednesday in Buffalo, Rochester and Syracuse.

In addition, the committee said, rallies in support of the Attica defendants will be held Thursday in New York City, Los Angeles, Atlanta, Chicago, Charlotte, N.C., and Buffalo.

On the first day of the riot, inmates established a stronghold in one of the prison's four exercise yards after seizing hostages.

For the next three days, convicts and their hostages held out in the yard while inmate leaders negotiated with state officials for better conditions and amnesty for the insurgents.

On the fifth day, Sept. 13, with no settlement achieved, armed State Police stormed the prison yard and put an end to the revolt.

Most of the 43 men who died as a result of the rebellion — 32 inmates and 11 hostages — were killed in the troopers' assault.

Rocky Gets Bond Support

KIAMESHA LAKE, N.Y. (AP) — "The Japs" in "Orebern" have a problem, according to Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

"Here are the Japanese. They announced they are going to build a steel mill in Orebern," Rockefeller said Thursday, stumbling over the name of the upstate city of Auburn.

"When the Japs came back," he continued, "Penn Central announced the termination of the service of the main line into Orebern. What are the Japanese going to do? Take the steel by rickshaw to deliver it around the state?"

The question drew laughter from the 1,500 delegates gathered in the Concord Hotel here for the annual state AFL-CIO convention.

The Republican governor spoke to the labor delegates to enlist their support for the $3.5 billion transportation bond issue, which will be on the ballot this fall for voter approval.

He got their support. The delegates adopted a resolution to establish committees with industries to campaign for approval of the bond issue.

Unless the bond issue is passed, Rockefeller said, "the subway fare in New York City will go to 60 cents, and many railroad freight operations will be abandoned."

He said the bond revenues would finance many highway and mass transit projects, improve commuter and freight operations, renovate deteriorating subways and subsidize local transit systems.

The members of the construction and trade unions, which dominate the labor organization, forsee that the bond revenues will finance projects providing thousands of new jobs. They persuaded other union delegates to support the bond issue. The state organization contains union representatives of such diverse groups as plumbers, teachers, actors, hotel workers and college professors.

"It's important to us," said Frank Carducci, president of Division 1342 of the Amalgamated Transit Union, which represents bus drivers in Buffalo and Niagara Falls. He said bus service has declined, the number of drivers and passengers have dropped and fares have risen to 45 cents—highest in the state.

Some of the union members have differed with Rockefeller in the past, but Carducci said, "We're a hundred per cent behind him on this one."

The passage of the resolution to support the bond issue was the last major item of business in the three-day convention which ends today.

Lower Prices For Gasoline

WASHINGTON (AP) — Barring last-minute intervention by the Supreme Court, many gasoline retailers around the country will have to lower their prices at midnight tonight.

New government price ceilings on retail sales of gasoline will force many stations to shave from one to three cents per gallon off their prices to motorists, officials of the Cost of Living Council said.

Every gasoline pump in the country is supposed to have a red, white and blue sticker listing the ceiling price and octane rating of the gasoline in the pump.

Gasoline retailers, who claim the government has singled them out for special price punishment, held to a slim hope that the Supreme Court might suspend the ceilings at the last minute.

Chief Justice Warren Burger rejected Thursday an application from the National Congress of Petroleum Retailers that would have blocked the new controls, but an attorney for the group framed a new appeal to Justice Thurgood Marshall.

The attorney, Jerry S. Cohen, dismissed speculation about a possible boycott by the 165,000 members of the group if the ceilings go into effect at midnight.

State Approves City Planning Funds

KINGSTON

Mayor Francis R. Koenig announced today that the city's application for $10,056 in planning funds has been approved by the New York State Office of Planning Services.

Under the program the city will receive $8,380 in state and federal funds to carry out eligible planning activities with the remainder to be paid via staff appropriations already budgeted by the city. The Common Council approved application for the program at its June meeting.

"In view of the popularity of the Comprehensive Planning Assistance Program with local government officials," Koenig said, "the emphasis placed upon it by federal officials as a planning mechanism for revenue sharing and the fact that it was one of the few HUD categorical programs not subject to federal freezes and cutbacks, the City of Kingston has been fortunate in having its application approved for funding."

As approved by the Common Council, the program will establish the components of a planning office in the city through the collection and categorizing of planning data, reports and related material, while at the same time reviewing the city's 1961 comprehensive plan with development of a detailed work program and schedule for updating and utilization of usable portions of the plan, and finally, setting up the administration's special community development revenue sharing program.

The application for comprehensive planning funds was drawn up by City Planner Robert E. Pritchard.

Wawarsing Hears Exemption Request

By WADE BURKHART

WAWARSING

The Town of Wawarsing has received a written petition from the Village of Ellenville to exempt the residents of the village from all town highway taxes under items 3 and 4 of the town highway budget. The request was read at Thursday night's town board meeting.

According to Councilman Frank Greco, the village is currently exempted from all of item 3, which covers machinery. However, village residents pay their full proportionate share of item 4, which includes snow removal, even though the town does not plow snow in the village.

In a similar case, the Village of New Paltz has requested similar tax relief from the Town of New Paltz, and been turned down. The town stand has been upheld in State Supreme Court, but the village has appealed the decision and has a court date this month.

Many towns previously gave partial exemptions on items 3 and 4 to villages within them, but about two years ago the State Department of Audit and Control began to frown on the practice stating that towns could either give a complete exemption or no exemption.

The village highway tax relief petition to the town was signed by Mayor Robert Dowling, the Board of Trustees, and village property owners, according to Wawarsing Supervisor Frank Harkin.

The board decided to hold the village request for action at budget time.

In other action, the board voted to clean all the town's fire ponds, gave money to both the Ellenville and Kerhonkson-Accord First Aid Squads, approved a bond anticipation note of $25,000 for bills on the new highway barn, and deferred action on a raise for highway department employees.

Harkin said, "I feel we have overlooked a very important maintenance function" in not cleaning the ponds before. Discussion on the ponds was sparked by the poor condition of the Napanoch pond. The money to clean the ponds will come from the fire protection fund, which now contains over $10,000 according to Harkin.

The town has about $1,000 in the budget under civil defense, and Harkin said the best way to spend the money would be to give it to the rescue squads. The Kerhonkson-Accord First Aid Squad had asked the town board for a donation.

Both rescue squads are to get $450, and the money will have a string attached to it requiring that it be used only for new equipment, and will only be paid out by the town on submission of vouchers.

Harkin told the board that the town was running out of the money it has on hand to pay for the new highway barn. A total of $160,000 was earmarked for the new barn, $60,000 in an existing fund and $100,000 worth of bonds. The bonds have not yet been sold, and the board authorized the drawing of a $25,000 bond anticipation note to pay the contractors' bills which are coming in.

Harkin said as far as he was concerned the town did not have the money to pay a raise the highway department workers are seeking. Councilman Frank Sahler requested that the town treasurer make available a record of all the extra flood work done by the highway crews this year, as well as a statement of the town's financial conditions at the next audit meeting so the board can fully consider the raise request.

Trustee Scores Town Hearings

NEW PALTZ

The New Paltz Town Board held public hearings requected for water and sewer districts for the proposed Tri-State Realty Inc.'s New Paltz Center, and promptly ran into charges by Village Trustee John Logan that neither of the hearings were legal.

The two districts would encompass only the about 61 acres that Tri-State has an option on for its large regional shopping center.

Logan, the Democratic candidate for town supervisor, noted that Tri-State only had an option on the land and did not own it. The land is owned by Abram W. Paradies, and Logan said public hearings on the setting up of the districts could only be held if a property owner requests them.

Paradies did not request the hearings. The setting up of the districts was requested by Kathleen B. Scott, the real estate agent in New Paltz acting for Tri-State. As Logan saw the situation, the town board had no proper reason for holding the hearings, since it lacked a proper request. "You got a letter from a real estate agent who purports to be an agent for a third party who doesn't even own the land.," said Logan to the town board.

Town Attorney Wendell Harp said the hearings were proper, however. He said the town board was holding the hearings on its own in response to a request, which he said was a legal procedure.

The setting up of the two districts will cost the developer a total of $446,000, according to the estimate of Christus Larios, of the town's engineering firm of Brinnier and Larios. Both districts will require the laying of lines by tunneling under the New York State Thruway.

Larios said both districts would provide sufficient services that they could serve as the base for further distircts, though how much expansion the new line could accomodate would depend on the new development proposed.

The entire cost of the setting up of the districts, including the preliminary work by Brinnier and Larios, is being paid for by the developer, Larios said.

He also said that any expansion of the present lines made necessary by new development would be paid for proprotionally by those who increased the demand, and might be entirely paid for by the new development depending on what sort of contract was arrived at with local government.

The town board, which did not take action on the new districts, was urged to hold up any final decision until plans for other projects were submitted. Steven and Jack Erman of New Paltz Growers Inc. said their RV project would also need water and sewer districts, and that the town board should consider their project's districts along with Tri-State districts. Steve Erman said that would be "integrated planning."

Logan said it was "deplorable" to extend the new districts to the area of the Tri-State development since areas near the village needed to be developed first. Ralph Kulseng a Democratic councilmanic candidate, said approving the districts was "subsidizing" the developer.

If the town board resolves to go ahead with the districts, they must then be approved by the State Department of Audit and Control, and are subject to a hearing by the State Department of Environmental Conservation. The village, which sells the water to the town and owns the sewer plant, and the City of New York, from whose water supply system the village gets its water, must also agree to the districts, Larios said.

Newburgh Teachers OK Strike

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (UPI) — Members of the Newburgh Teachers Association Thursday night authorized a strike on Sept. 17 after the school board held a legislative hearing to impose a settlement in their contract dispute.

The board reserved decision on a contract.

About 400 teachers were at the association meeting and the strike vote was described as almost unanimous.

The teachers' union said it would not accept a unilaterally imposed settlement but would bargain through midnight Sept. 16.

The association also brought unfair labor practice charges against the board for an abbreviated negotiation session Wednesday, during which the union rejected the board's latest offer.

Lyle Enters Innocent Plea, Has Case Adjourned

KINGSTON — Thomas R. Lyle of 96 Johnston Avenue pleaded innocent to charges of grand larceny, third degree today and had his case adjourned to Sept. 19 by County Judge Raymond J. Mino.

Lyle, indicted by the Ulster County Grand Jury on Aug. 23, appeared in court today with his attorney, Charles Gaffney. Gaffney asked for an adjournment in order to address motions to the indictments. Judge Mino, in granting the adjournment, released Lyle in his own recognizance.

Lyle, a former city clerk and city treasurer, was indicted by the Grand Judy in connection with business transactions relating to his personal business, the Thomas R. Lyle Insurance Agency. District Attorney Francis J. Vogt, who represented The People in court today, has repeatedly emphasized that Lyle's indictments have no connection with alleged wrong-doing at the city treasurer's office, which Lyle headed from Dec. 29, 1972 until his resignation on Aug. 4.

Lyle, in his letter of resignation to Mayor Francis R. Koenig, cited "very pressing, urgent and trying personal matters" which he said were "absolutely unrelated to my work as city treasurer."

The indictments accuse Lyle of larceny between Feb. 21 and March 9 of this year ,involving between $1,200 and $1,300. Lyle is alleged to have arranged financing of insurance premium payments for his customers through a premium finance organization, received the money, and then allegedly failed to pay the premiums, using the money for his own purposes, instead.

Lyle is charged with two Class E felonies and if convicted could serve up to eight years in prison.

Lyle served as city clerk under the city's last three mayors, being appointed by former Mayor John J. Schwenk in December of 1965, reappointed by Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan to a pair of two-year terms and then by Mayor Koenig. Lyle served Koenig as city clerk for only a few weeks, resigning in February of 1970. He returned to City Hall as treasurer last December.

Lyle is also a former Democratic city chairman, serving one term in the late 60's and generally being credited with the surge in Democratic fortunes that has placed city government solidly in the hands of the Democrats.

Lyle has been singularly unsuccessful on the county level, however. He ran for the post of Democrat State Committeeman against Maurice Hinchey of Saugerties in 1971 and was defeated and was again defeated (by Harold Brown of Wawarsing) when he sought the post of County Democratic chairman last June.

Dye, Stedge Ruled Back on Ballot

KINGSTON — It took Supreme Court Justice Edward S. Conway only a few brief minutes today to rule in favor of two independent candidates whose nominating petitions were rejected in late August by the Ulster County Board of Elections.

As a result Republican County Legislator Douglas V. Dye will be on the ballot this November as an Independent candidate for reelection in the new District 2 (Towns of Ulster and Kingston) and Robert Stedge, who seeks the post of supervisor of the Town of Ulster, will also be an Independent candidate Nov. 6.

The Board of Elections represented by County Attorney Abraham Molyneaux contended that both Dye and Stedge did not meet the election law requirements in that their petitions were "incomplete." According to Republican election commissioner Edwin Callahan and Democrat Commissioner Jack Hogan, Dye and Stedge failed to include in their petitions information concerning petitioners' addresses at the time of the last general election.

Guido J. Napoletano, council for both Dye and Stedge, cited a July 2, 1971 amendment to the Election Law which made such a requirment unnecessary. He claimed the sole requirement of the signers was that they be registered voters at the time they signed the petitions.

"I'm surprised it happened so quick," a jubilant Dye said outside the courtroom, adding that the decision restored his faith in America. "It shows justice does prevail," the maverick GOP legislator said.

Although he claimed a disenchantment with the Republican Party, Dye said he would remain within its ranks, will work within the organization and "will continue to speak out."

In November Dye will face three Republicans and three Democrats seeking three posts as representatives of District 2. The GOP candidates include incumbent Lester C. Elmendorf and Richard D. Nace Sr. as well as Stephen G. Hyatt. The Democratic challengers are Kenneth R. Dargis, Richard H. LeLorenzo and Janet Yallum.

'Gallo Remiss in Duties,' Says Ellis

KINGSTON — Burt A. Ellis, Republican-Conservative candidate for alderman-at-large, charged today that his opponent, T. Robert Gallo, Democrat-Liberal, has been "remiss in his duties" for allowing "policies and practices adopted under pressure, 11th hour decisions and government by crisis" in the Common Council.

"Our Common Council must have time to digest the information that they are asked to vote upon," Ellis declared. "They should have time to bring the issues to you, the voter. Unfortunately most of the time the issues aldermen are asked to decide upon are made available the night of the Common Council meeting. I call this policy and practice by pressure," Ellis said.

Ellis contends that "only one man" can grant the Council the time it needs to properly consider legislation and that man is his opponent, Gallo, seeking his fourth term in office.

"Our present alderman-at-large has been remiss in discharging his duties," Ellis said. "Decisions which must be made under pressure are frequently not the best decisions. Kingston deserves much better than it has been getting and I call on you the voters of Kingston to make a change for the better."

Saturday Registration Scheduled

STONE RIDGE — Ulster County Community College will hold late registration Saturday (Sept. 8) for six courses being offered on Saturdays this fall.

Erbstein's Resignation

The news of the resignation of Dr. George Erbstein as head of the Ulster County Community College cannot be allowed to go unmentioned. Dr. Erbstein, during his tenure at Stone Ridge, has clearly proved to be the catalyst for the successful expansion of the college, and a salubrious tonic for the community as a whole.

During Dr. Erbstein's tenure as president, UCCC has experienced outstanding progress and achievements. He took office when the college occupied a one-building temporary campus at 214 West Chestnut Street in Kingston and supervised the move to the Stone Ridge campus which today has 10 modern buildings with facilities unparalleled. Enrollment has grown in the same period. In 1947, the college had an enrollment of 810 full-time students and 685 part-time students. This fall, the enrollment has grown to more than 1,200 full-time students and over 1,000 part-time students.

While Dr. Erbstein has been president, there has been a steady expansion of the college's Continuing Education program which seeks to meet the needs of thousands of residents who find traditional education programs impossible because of employment or family responsibilities. Today, there is a well-rounded representation of evening credit and credit-free courses. A new feature for the first time this fall is the offering of Saturday courses.

In his seven years at the helm, the college was accredited by the Middle States Association. Many new programs also were started in that period including two-year Nursing, Police Science, Correction Administration and Data Processing programs and one-year diploma programs in Drafting, Landscaping, Service Technician and Secretarial Studies. Also begun were several innovative studies including Developmental Studies.

President Erbstein also guided the college to the fulfillment of one of its most challenging goals—to become involved in the community. Under his supervision Ulster now provides a variety of services to the community. Many community groups use the Stone Ridge campus facilities for meetings and events. The college also sponsors seminars for special interest groups and offers exhibits, lectures, seminars and concerts which are open to the public.

Dr. Erbstein's resignation will not go into effect until August of next year. Therefore, in the ensuing academic year, the community can confidently expect that progress and the state of well-being at UCCC will continue. And with the coming of next August, the entire community will owe Dr. Erbstein a large thank you.

Real Income Guide

Herbert Stein, President Nixon's chief economic advisor, told many Americans they are better off than they think. People have lost sight of gains in "real" income, he said, because of the rapidly rising food prices.

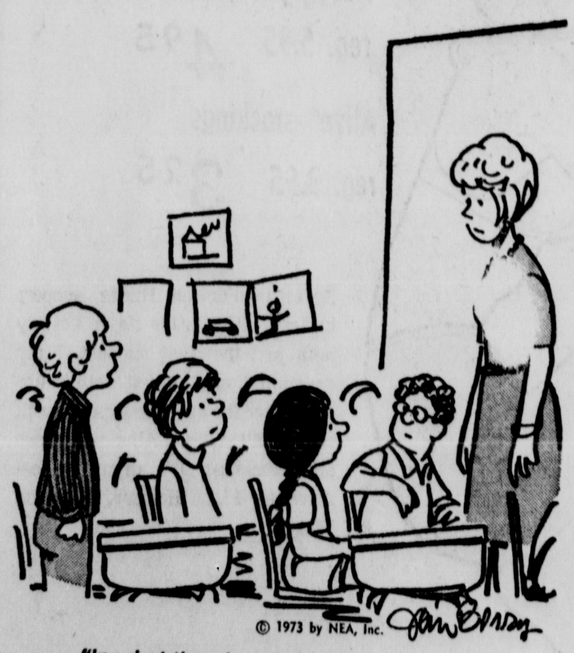

By real income, economists mean that money income is going up faster than the general price level. Inflation has not helped, and the food price increases are especially painful for low-income families.

Stein commented on what he called a paradox, "the increase in the feeling of discontent about the economy despite the high and rising level of real prosperity shown by the statistics." He drew special attention to the increase from spring 1972 to spring 1973 of five per cent in disposable after-tax income for individuals.

The discrepancy between perception and reality, Stein explained by saying that inflation has been centered on food and housewives exaggerate how much other prices have increased. Wage increases come more slowly and people feel they are falling behind, even though in the long run they are better off. Food accounts for 22.5 per cent of the Consumer Price Index but is given much greater emphasis by most shoppers.

The fact remains, folks still feel cheated on meat and other food prices. They want more than an economist's philosophy to make them feel well fed at moderate prices.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Trade Schools Used Pressure

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The Federal Trade Commission produced a dramatic booklet warning against unscrupulous practices by vocational schools, then secretly deep-sixed almost 100,000 of the books when the schools protested.

This buckling to the industry he is supposed to regulate was one of the first tests for FTC Chairman Lewis Engman, who was recently appointed by President Nixon to protect consumers from voracious business practices.

The 24-page booklet had been painstakingly put together by FTC staffers and was handsomely printed for distribution to the public. But the vocational school industry got wind of it and beefed mightily to the FTC.

When they complained, Englman called a special meeting of the commissioners, who were on vacation. Not all showed up. Those present quickly voted to put up the money for a revised booklet, which looks identical but actually leaves out some of the most stinging criticism of the profit-making schools.

Although most of the original 93,000-copy edition is now moldering in the FTC's basement, we managed to obtain one copy and found it is substantially stronger than the second version, which is being released to the public with the blessing of Engman and the vocational schools.

For instance, in warning about phony degrees granted by some schools, the original pamphlet stated: "The value of a degree of diploma granted by a junior college, college or university is reliable. The worth of a degree or diploma given by a private, profit-making vocational school is sometimes more questionable."

That passage is deleted in the second booklet and its absence is noteworthy. Many states, following a model program instituted by North Carolina, have established community colleges and vocational schools that are often superior to, and competing for the same students as commercial schools.

Another caveat expurgated by the FTC says, "Vocational schools often have names which are very similar in sound or spelling to famous organizations just so you may confuse the two." The complaint is nonetheless valid: Firms like IBM are continually plagued by education hucksters trading on their easily recognized initials.

The original text contains this warning: "If a course has a very low drop-out rate, it may be too easy and the school may be a 'diploma mill.'" Some courses are designed to be easy so students will complete them and schools will get all the money." This was deleted entirely from the revised brochure.

FTC Commissioner Paul Rand Dixon, who was not at the rush meeting on the booklet, said, "I've got kind of a soft spot in my heart for correspondence schools. Not everyone has a rich daddy (but) some of these places are just out and out diploma mills."

Joan Z. Bernstein, acting director of FTC's Bureau of Consumer Protection, said the commission had "planned a second edition anyway." She insisted there were no pressures to alter the text, but admitted there were ob- of the vocational schools.

"We've never printed anything like this before," Mrs. Bernstein said. "We wanted to do it right." There are, however, 24 pamphlets on display in the lobby of the FTC building and the vocational school brochure is the 13th in a series of consumer bulletins.

Our own sources in FTC told us the industry protests were the main reason that the booklet was "revised." It had been originally issued, they said, after numerous young Americans complained that they believed the promises of "more money" by the schools, then found out that the schools were the ones making "more money" out of the courses.

WATERGATE BACKLASH: Washington attorney John J. Wilson, whose eloquent arguments before the Senate committee were tarnished when he attached Sen. Daniel Inouye, D-Haw., as "that little Jap," is no stranger to the world of racial bigotry.

While Wilson insists that he is not anti-Semitic (and this is borne out by his friends among Jewish lawyers), he once earnestly praised a client described by the Anti-Defamation League as a "notorious anti-Semite." Joseph Kamp, on trial 21 years ago for contempt of Congress, got a predictably brilliant defense from Wilson, who described him as "an upright citizen" of "true, fine character."

While such phrases no doubt helped win the case, the fact is that Kamp, according to the prosecutor, was so deep into racism that he advertised in a Ku Klux Klan journal.

Now a member of the ultraright Liberty Lobby, whose leadership has endorsed neo-Nazis, Kamp denies he is or was an anti-Semite. Wilson advised us he cannot recall hearing Kamp was anti-Semitic.

"The only thing I knew was that he was very strongly anti-Communist," Wilson said. said.

"Suddenly I Feel Rejected!"

Inside Report

Mills Is Needed

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The doleful political significance of Rep. Wilbur Mills's surgery for removal of a damaged spinal disc is its possibly fatal coincidence with a Nixon-Mills agreement on what is potentially President Nixon's most comprehensive tax program to battle both recession and inflation.

With Mills now out of action for one month, this highly imaginative tax program may die aborning. Only Mills, resourceful chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, has the prestige on Capitol Hill to push a new tax program through the faction-ridden Democratic Congress.

Moreover, President Nixon himself had not quite gone that last step of giving Mills the enthusiastic backing of the Nixon administration. The reason: to make up the revenue loss of tax incentives for new plant and equipment, the Mills plan would have to raise taxes somewhere — probably a small increase in the 48 per cent corporate tax rate.

"The President's still hung up on the stupid pledge he made not to raise taxes in his second term," one highly placed administration official told us. "He's beginning to bend, but he hasn't bent all the way yet."

That final stage of bending is going to be far more difficult for Mr. Nixon now that Mills is flat on his aching back in a Little Rock hospital. Yet, the President's all-out endorsement of the developing Mills plan is an absolute precondition for its success.

Realizing this, Dr. Pierre Rinfret, the President's unofficial and irrespressibly independent economic consultant, has strongly pressed the White House to get Mr. Nixon to take a vocal, exposed position backing the Mills program (incidentally giving the embattled President a nice handle to shift out of Watergate and into the economy).

Dr. Arthur Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve who has been way ahead of the administration every step of the way on the anti-inflation front, has quietly been providing Mills with research for the principal part of the Mills tax program: the fast tax write-off for new plant and equipment in such overburdened basic industries as steel.

The Fed's research staff, quietly beefed up during the Burns chairmanship, has sent Mills technical information to identify other basic industries (for example, paper, oil refining and cooper production) whose products either are now in dangerously short supply or soon will be.

The idea is that encouraging new investment in these basic industries will increase future supply, thus precluding inflationary pressures stemming from shortages of materials and supplies.

That is the anti-inflation prong of the two-pronged Mills plan, and it fits the still unstated but well known views of such key Nixon advisors as William Simon, Deputy Secretary of the Treasury. Secretary George Shultz, Simon's boss and Mr. Nixon's economic czar, has said privately that he, too, likes this Mills approach. Lacking definitive word from Mr. Nixon, he is keeping silent.

Undeterred by presidential inaction, Dr. Burns has not kept his silence. In little-noted testimony early last month to the joint economic committee, Burns publicly backed Mills' plan to build future capacity through tax incentives and thus cure what he called "severe capacity restraints" in some basic industries.

Mills, more worried over a recession than inflation, sees his tax-incentive plan as a device to continue high employment after consumer spending declines and production lines start laying off workers. That is the anti-recession prong of his plan.

Buttressing Mills's fears are new findings by consumer expert Albert Sindlinger. The pollster most favored by the White House, Sindlinger has just informed his blue-ribbon list of big business clinets that consumer sentiment shows a sure-recession consensus among almost 20 million job-holding consumers as of today.

Among all consumers, Sindlinger finds that lack of confidence in job security — hence fear of recession — is higher today than it was just before the August 1971 inflation-recession crisis which stampeded Mr. Nixon into his first wage-price freeze and economic controls.

Mills was a key factor in that belated Nixon-Connally decision two years ago. He is even more important today, first because of the Watergate paralysis in the Nixon administration and second because many of his colleagues in the House need intensive persuasion before they vote to change the tax structure.

Now he is out of combat for at least a month. Unless the Nixon administration itself takes a strong lead, the principal victim of Mills's surgery will be his imaginative tax cure for an economy under ever-worsening seige.

That Wild Vacation - - - Part III

The trip back home has a built-in sorrow. It is as inescapable as the joy of neighborhood recollections. The trouble with going home is that too many dear faces are dead, too many sit with empty eyes waiting for the final vacation.

Call it duty. Call it conscience. The visits must be made. There is a vain mother-in-law — once a small dashing handsome nurse — who pushes an aluminum walker and says "Mmmmm." She can say it loud, soft, high-pitched, low, peremptory, but it comes out "Mmmmm."

She was proud, almost imperious. Her world is a tiny apartment. Slowly, laboriously, she dresses her best. Once, the flashing earrings and rings given by her husband were her most precious possessions. Now it's a pill box of tranquilizers and sleeping tablets.

She "Mmmmms" that Kathi has grown up pretty. And ladylike. She is pleased, not so much for Kathi's sake as for the virtue of her children's children. Which brings her pride back to herself.

Emil Herman is in Holy Name Hospital. The corridors used to be alive with swan-like nuns tiptoeing from room to room with nostrums and solace. They were my friends, and they, too, are gone.

Herman has a renal block. Thirty years ago, he was a top-flight news photographer. The doors of governors and senators were ajar for him. His face is saffron on a white pillow. I needle him. The smile dawns. Then he laughs.

We were a team. He made the pix; I wrote the story. He will get well. And go home. But his mind is misted with worry about how many mechanical failures the human body can endure. And whatever happened to all that youth and energy and love? At his bedside, his Kay touches his hand and glistening tears swim around his eyes.

Duty. Conscience. We visit graves although no one is there. Each has a nameplate on a granite door. The grass is weedy. The rains and snows of many years dim the dates. Kneel. Say a prayer to an empty space. It's a speedy prayer. A sighing walk to the gate.

The Giant is doomed. He sits alone in Pollack Hospital. One leg of the pajamas is split to the top. Two men in the room lie curled in a fetal position. The Giant sits all day staring at a small television set on which only horizontal lines how. There is no picture.

The nurses are saints. They work the hopeless cases. They need dedication and patience. The medical files on each man grow thicker and thicker in the metal folder until one day he resigns. The folder with its mass of tests — brain scans, liver scans, EKGs, TPRs — are sent to the dead file, proof of man's failure to defy time.

The Giant was the biggest, most powerful man I knew. He could lift the back end of a car with his shoulders. His mind was childish and joyful. In Saturday mornings, he sat before a TV set with grandchildren, wearing a Mickey Mouse hat, laughing at the cartoons.

He loved a foaming glass of beer. And, at dinner, he could knock off three helpings of anything. The Giant never learned to speak softer than a joyful shout. In every way, he was a far better man than I.

The hospital room is his final prison. No time off for good behavior. What is wrong with this huge person? The right leg is shiny with edema. There are ulcerations. Emphysema takes his breath away. He smokes his Camels until they burn his thumb. One eye turned to the right and never returned to center.

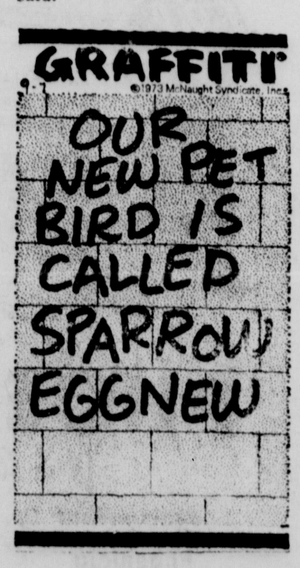

He smiles shyly, showing four yellow teeth. "Did you bring me some cookies?" No. I brought money for cigarettes. He needs them as much as he needs breath — and he cannot have both.

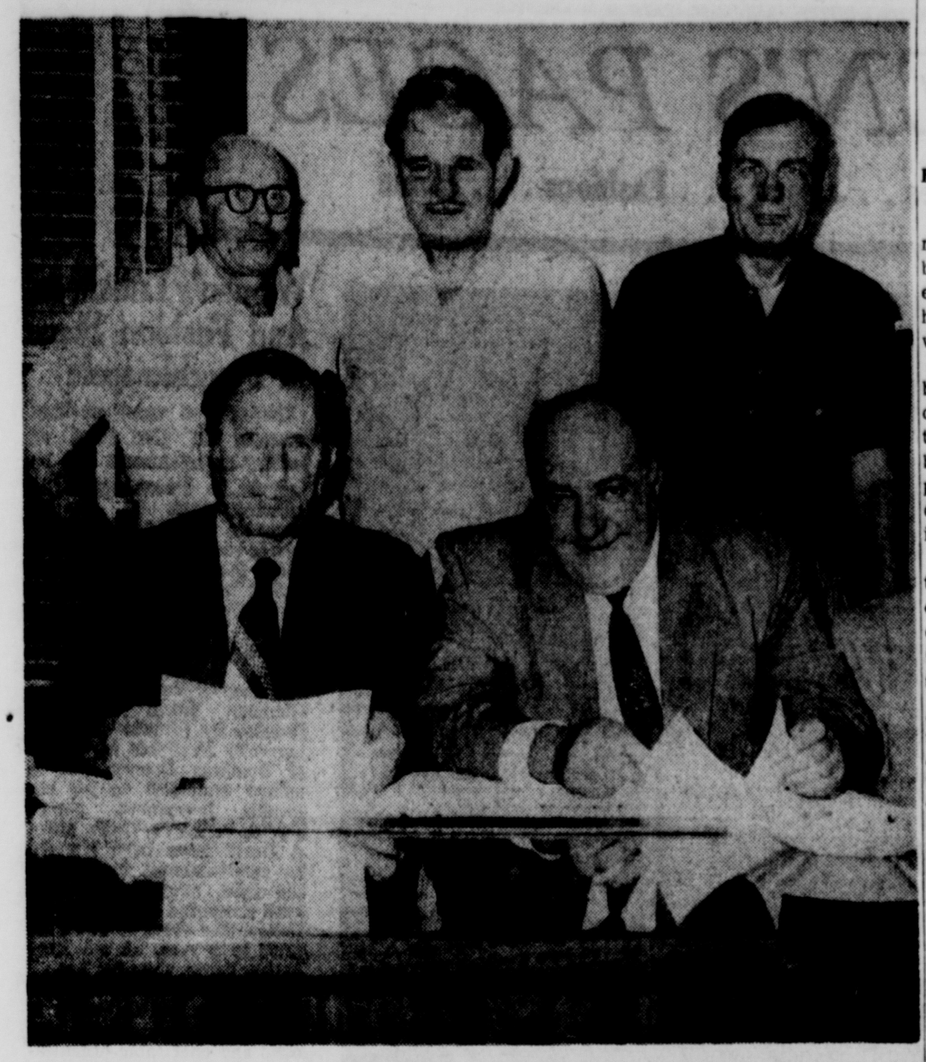

The Giant's wife visits him. She is small and nervous. "Sign me out!" he roars. "Sign me out, dammit!" She won't. At home, he falls asleep every other hour and the lit cigarette falls on a bedspread, on the rug and night tables.

"When I was woikin" he says, "I was a big guy with my two stepdaughters. I was the head man. Now they are married and they never come to see me." Kathi moves out into the stone corridor to weep. She counts her spending money and goes out and buys him a $79 TV set. Somewhere along the line, we forgot the cookies.

Some of us fly a long way to go back home. The faces are older and friendly; the trees are taller and greener. There is joy in remembering the good old days. And laughter. And small new shiny faces running at top speed. But then, there is another side.

It is a debt which cannot be repaid. We dread the visits. They must be made, or we will despise our cowardice, our fear of what lies ahead for us. . .

Historical Research Project

Status of Dutchess Sites Reviewed

By TIM SCHUSTER

RHINEBECK — An architectural review and research project involving 37 buildings along the Hudson River in Northern Dutchess County has completed its first phase with gratifying results.

Richard Crowley of Rhinebeck, project supervisor, with one historian, one architect and three student architects have been involved this summer in preparing detailed architectural drawings for the Historic American Buildings Survey.

The historic spots are contained in a 16-mile long section of land along the eastern shore of the river, stretching from Clermont just north of Tivoli to Staatsburg.

The survey, funded half by the federal government and half by the New York State Council on the Arts, has concluded thus far that six of these properties are "endangered," ie. either in bad structural shape or up for sale by a developer not interested in restoration.

If funds are appropriated, Crowley expects to continue with the project in succeeding summers until the massive detail work is completed to satisfaction. Results will be filed in the Library of Congress and will be available to the public. A similar survey in Kingston was completed several years ago.

Properties worked on this summer have included Rokeby in Red Hook, Linden Grove, and Rose Hill (the Catholic Worker Farm). The team researched historical data, made intricate field drawings of such aspects of the architecture as moldings, windows, roofs, cornices, floor plans and materials.

Crowley, a Rhinebeck architect of some note whose home at 44 Montgomery Street, the former Delamater House, is of great architectural significance, said that no record of an architect has been found for Rokeby and it is generally believed that the builders designed the mansion. "I don't believe it," he asserted of that line of reasoning.

Historic American Buildings Surveys (HABS) were also conducted in nine other locations this summer around the country by other teams. They are: Carson City, Nev.; Louisville, Ky.; Austin Tex.; Guthrie, Okla.; eastern Tennessee; For Adams, Newport, R.I.; Oatlands, Va.; Tampa, Fla.; and South Pass, Wyo.

Crowley said of Rose Hill, the former mansion of Gen. Watts de Peyster in Tivoli, that it is in "pretty good shape structurally," despite neglect, and if it were on the market its chances of preservation would be good, especially because of the magnificent site on a bluff overlooking the river.

HABS became a long-range program under the Historic Sites Act of 1935 and continued operations until 1941. From 1941 until 1957 the survey was inactive, although files continued to grow through donations.

In 1955 an inventory form was developed by the National Trust for Historic Preservation in cooperation with the National Park Service, supervising agency, and the American Institute of Architects. This became a part of the survey in 1962.

The Historic Preservation Act of 1956 greatly increased the survey, enlarging the protective inventory of historic properties by expanding the National Register to include places of state and local significance, as well as of national prominence.

The collection of records has become a major source of information on buildings that have disappeared, such as the Montgomery Block in San Francisco. Built in 1855 on a foundation of redwood logs the block became a thriving commercial center and bohemian haven for American writers including Samuel Clemens, Bret Harte, and Jack London.

It was torn down in 1959. Nothing remains of the building except the records made by HABS.

The 37 properties in Northern Dutchess scheduled for the survey are: Clermont, Belvidere, Idele, Teviot, Rose Hill, The Pynes, Callendar House, Hans House, Ward Manor, Bard College, Blithewood, Montgomery Place, Massena, Maizeland, Edgewater, Sylvania, Rokeby, Steep Valetje, Oriot, Leacote, Clifton Point, Ferncliff Ankony, The Grove, Sands House, Beekman House, Grasmere, Elleralie, Wilderstein, Wildercliff, Glenburn, Linden Grove, Stein House, Linwood, Clay Hill, Staatsburg and The Point.

Trailer Park Request Is Tabled

SAUGERTIES — The Saugerties Town Board tabled Thursday night a request by Gilbert Trnka for a permit for a 34-unit trailer park.

Board members noted that Trnka had been accused of violating town trailer ordinances by installing trailers before permits had been obtained for them, and that the case is now being considered in town justice court. They emphasized that they were not denying Trnka's request but only tabling it until the case against him is decided.

Board members received a letter from the town's Senior Citizens Club asking them to consider purchase of a building on Main Street in Saugerties for senior citizen use. The 20 by 100 foot building, a two-story brick and concrete block structure, was formerly used as a factory but is now vacant. Senior Citizens noted that another buyer is interested in the building, located near Bridge Street, and asked early consideration of their request. Reported purchase price is $21,000.

Board members said they would visit the building within the next few days before reaching a decision on purchasing it.

The board approved fire commissioners for the newly formed Mt. Marion Fire District, formelry a part of the Mt. Marion-Ruby district. Approved as commissioners were Kenneth Clinch, John DuBois, Emil Lueppert, William Goetz, and Edwin Tabler, with Gloria DuBois as treasurer.

A group of residents of Blue Mountain Park petitioned the board for a reduction in speed limits there. The board, noting that similar requests had been received previously from Malden and Mt. Marion, said it would consolidate all three requests and forward them to the Department of Transportation with a request for action.

The board approved a trailer permit for Dennis W. Evans on Shady Glen Road in West Saugerties, acting on the recommendation of Walter Johnson, town building inspector.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I've found a solution for washing those pesky nylon nightgowns with thin straps that seem to crawl off the hangers when they're drying.

Plastic hangers that my baby's clothes are hung on in the store have notches for slipping straps into them. Works for Mommy's gowns the same as for baby's clothes.

Because they're plastic, you can dry the gowns on them after washing, with no fear of rust. It gives hangers a use long after baby's clothes have outgrown them.

Dear Heloise:

My brother and I like to go fishing.

He didn't have a net so I made one for him.

I used part of Mom's old stocking and the plastic rim of an old margarine cover. I stapled the stocking over the rim and attached wire from a hanger to use as a handle.

It worked beautifully.

Dear Heloise:

While repainting the inside of my newly purchased home I found that having to stoop down to mop up paint spills was very tiring.

To eliminate most of the stooping I put an old pair of socks over my shoes.

Now when I dribble paint I just rub the spot with my foot and the spill is up.

Free 'Hot Line' in Use To Burns Care Institute

If you are burned while using a faulty or badly designed consumer product, here's what you should do immediately after you've received treatment: report your burn to the New York State Health Department and describe the product or appliance and how the accident occurred.

Through the Burns Care Institute, the Health Department is investigating all these burns — such as those resulting from electric blankets, bedding, oven roasting bags, fondue pots and fires in mobile homes. The data accumulated from these reports will be used to recommend legislation for safer household products, and to work with manufacturers and designers of these products. New York State residents are asked to report all such incidents on the Burns Care Institute's free "hot line." Call Collect Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. the number: 518 474-3000.

Women's Luncheon And Fashion Show In Poughkeepsie

One of the most exciting concepts in the form of fashion entertainment will be brought to Poughkeepsie on Monday, Sept. 10. An innovation, aimed at the female who is seeking to stay abreast with the eye-catching fall styles, has been devised by six of Poughkeepsie's leading fashion houses. It is known as the Women's World Luncheon, a command performance of live models from Glamour World displaying fashions by famous designers currently available to women of Dutchess County. For a unique approach to an enjoyable happening, games similar to T.V.'s "Let's Make A Deal" have been planned as entertainment for one of the most unusual luncheons ever presented in the Hudson Valley. The event is slated for 12:30 to 2 p.m. at the King Arthur Room, Camelot Inn.

Women's World Luncheon is open to the public and it is anticipated that some local civic and charitable organizations will attend as a group, especially since WEOK's roving mike will offer radio coverage concerning their forthcoming programs. Interesting personalities will be interviewed by Raffaele as part of his live radio show covering the events of this Women's World Luncheon.

A full hour color telecast of this special show has been planned by Poughkeepsie Cablevision, channel 12, and will include the fashion show, the zany games, awards, and prominent personalities. In addition, Miss Dutchess County will be in attendance.

The professional Glamour World models will wear clothing, wigs, jewelry, shoes and other accessories by Country Casuals, Flah's, House of Christine, Luckey Platt & Co., M. Shwartz & Co., and Up-To-Date. Novelty awards have been donated by numerous Dutchess County stores. Women's World Luncheon has been sponsored by the Dutchess Bank as a new fashion performance for Dutchess County

Tickets are available at any of the participating stores, at Glamour World, 109 Cannon Street, Poughkeepsie, or at the Dutchess Bank.

New Organ Will Be Dedicated At St. Joseph's September 16

A special blessing service for the new organ recently installed in St. Joseph's Church will be held Sunday, Sept. 16 at 7:30 p.m. The dedication blessing will be followed by a recital to be given by Richard Grant, concert organist.

Mr. Grant successfully pursues a threefold career of church organist, business executive and concert artist. He has held positions in prominent churches noted for their fine music programs. Mr. Grant is president of Allen Sales, Inc., with offices in White Plains, N.Y. As a concert artist he is in weekly demand with recent recitals on famous organs in St. Thomas Episcopal Church, Fifth Avenue, New York City; The Music Hall, Mothuen, Mass., City Hall, Portland, Maine and Middlebury College in Vermont. He also fulfilled a week's engagement at Lincoln Center's New York State Theatre where he accompanied the American Dance Theatre's interpretation of Bach's 'Passacaglia and Fugue in C Minor' on an Allen Organ. The New York critics acclaimed Mr. Grant's musicianship.

Msgr. John J. O'Reilly, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, wishes to express a cordial invitation to all in the area to attend the dedication blessing and recital.

Tiny Tips

Economical Note

Render pieces of fat removed from chicken and turkey when you are cleaning the birds and use the rendered fat for frying. Keep the fat in a tightly covered jar in the refrigerator. You can save the pieces of fat, appropriately covered, in the freezer and render them all at one time.

Making Pickles

When you are making pickles and want to keep them light in color, use distilled white vinegar.

Whalen-Cormier Nuptials Announced

MRS. LAURIE J. CORMIER
(Nancy Lynn Whalen)

St. Colman's Church in East Kingston was the setting for the wedding of Nancy Lynn Whalen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Whalen of 250 West Chestnut Street, Kingston, and Laurie Joseph Cormier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Laurie Cormier of 66 Roselyn Drive, Pittsfield, Mass.

The Rev. Msgr. Thomas Mullins officiated at the ceremony Saturday, Aug. 25. Guitarists and soloists, Donna Eastman and Sharon Polcastro, provided wedding selections.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She chose a white gown of polyester jewel styled with long bishop sleeves of organza, and a natural waistline over which was an organza pinafore of pink and lavender flowers. She wore a white picture hat and carried a cascade of white daisies and baby's breath. The gown was made by Mrs. Sanford Cross, a friend of the family.

Luann Whalen of Kingston was maid of honor for her sister in a pink A-line gown of polyester jewel fashioned with long sleeves and a high collar accented with lace. The gown featured a pinafore effect. She wore a white ribbon in her hair and carried a white basket of pink daisies.

Bridesmaids were the Misses Kathy Smith, Kingston; Sandy Schabot, Ruby; Kathy Conry, Hicksville. Lynn Cormier of Pittsfield, Mass., sister of the bridegroom, was junior bridesmaid and Donna Baxter of Kingston served as flower girl.

The bridesmaids' gowns were identical in styling to the maid of honor's except in lavender. They wore lavender ribbons in their hair and carried baskets of lavender daisies. The junior bridesmaid and flower girl wore pink with white hair ribbons. They carried baskets of pink daisies. All attendants' gowns were made by friends of the family.

Kim Loveless of Pittsfield, Mass., was best man. Ushers were Paul Cormier, William Cormier, brothers of the bridegroom, Roy Gosselin, all of Pittsfield, Mass. William Whalen, brother of the bride, Kingston, served as junior usher.

A reception was given at St. Joseph's Church hall in Glasco.

The bride, a 1970 graduate of John A. Coleman High School, will be graduated In June, 1974 from Marist College in Poughkeepsie.

Her husband, an alumnus of Taconic High School, Pittsfield, Mass., class of 1970, also plans to be graduated next June from Marist College.

Mr. and Mrs. Cormier will reside in Poughkeepsie.

Marriage Vows Exchanged

Jewel King Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Edward King of Highland announce the marriage of their daughter, Jewel, to John William Eberhardt, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Walter Eberhardt of Clintondale.

The Rev. Vincent Wallace officiated at the double ring cremony and celebrated the nuptial Mass in St. Augustine's Chapel, Clintondale, Friday, Aug. 24. Angelo Filocco, organist, provided contemporary wedding selections. David Eberhardt, and Louis Morales were attending altar boys.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an oriental-designed gown made especially for her by John Ferrara of New York City. The gown was fashioned of off-white English Lily of the Valley satin brocade with antique gold trim. She carried a large white orchid surrounded by a cascade of English ivy and red roses. Her fingertip, off-white illusion veil was fastened to a jeweled tiara.

Miss Rosalie Weeden of Clintondale was maid of honor in a moss green gown. Attendants were Kirstol King, sister of the bride, who wore magenta; Tana Johnson of Highland in turquoise; and Peggie Ann Eberhardt, sister of the bridegroom, in gold. Their gowns were all of satin crepe in an oriental design. Each attendant carried a cascade of white and yellow pompons and English ivy, with matching floral crowns on their hair.

Rick Shields of Germany, uncle of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were David Tipple of Highland; Jeffrey Foertsch of Clintondale; Billy Chapman, cousin of the bridegroom, of Highland.

A reception was given at The Hedges in West Park. Cindy Eberhardt and Debra Eberhardt, sisters of the bridegroom, were in charge of the guest book. Guests attended from Germany, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Long Island and Greater New York.

The bride and bridegroom are both graduates from Highland Central School, class of 1971. The bride is a junior at Syracuse University School of Nursing. The bridegroom is a junior at New York State University College of Environmental Science and Forestry, Paper and Pulp Science and Engineering, at Syracuse.

After a wedding trip to Lake George, Mr. and Mrs. Eberhardt will reside in Syracuse.

MRS. JOHN W. EBERHARDT

MRS. JOHN ALLEN FOX
(Judith A. Smith)

Smith-Fox

Judith A. Smith of 109 Hillcrest Gardens in Kingston became the bride of John Allen Fox of Wappingers Falls Saturday, Aug. 25, at First Church of Monticello, Presbyterian.

Dr. William A. Crawford, Th.D., pastor emeritus, officiated, assisted by the Rev. John S. Metallides, pastor. Mrs. Lorraine Hutchinson, organist, provided traditional wedding selections.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Smith of 2 Ann Street, Monticello. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman H. Fox Sr., 208 Delaware Avenue, Ithaca.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She selected a white cotton gown accented with lace. The gown featured a chapel length train. A Camelot cap of matching lace held her four-tiered illusion veil and she carried a bouquet of carnations and roses.

Miss Chris Withall of Rifton was maid of honor. Attendants were Virginia D. Smith, sister of the bride, Monticello; Mrs. Warren Skuret, North Bennington, Vt., sister of the bride; and Julie Ann Gates, Hicksville, L.I.

Richard Fox, brother of the bridegroom, Fort Montgomery, was best man. Ushers were Michael Mullin of Greenwood Lake; Ken Rogers, Norristown, Pa.; and Richard Keebler of Oxford, Ohio.

A garden reception was given at the bride's home.

The bride, a 1968 graduate of Monticello High School and a 1970 graduate of State University Agricultural and Technical College at Delhi, received her BS degree in Home Economics at State University of New York at Oneonta, class of 1972. She was formerly employed as a supervisory aide in nutrition under the Expanded Nutritional Education Program in Ulster County. She is now employed at Board of Cooperative Educational Serices in Orange County.

The bridegroom, a 1966 alumnus of Ithaca High School, received his BS degree in Hotel Administration at Cornell University in 1970, and is employed as a consultant for Harris Kerr Forster in New York City.

The couple will reside in Wappingers Falls.

New Hair Styles

New York (MW) — When a leading New York hairstylist recently promoted a specially-priced cut plus a free gift, he was a bit taken aback when most customers turned down the gift — a can of hair spray.

"Some women still want lacquer after a set," says Julius Caruso, "but now, instead of holding a finger on the nozzle for five minutes, they'll get just a light veiling to keep their hair in place. Today salon customers reject that 'I just came from the beauty parlor' look."

The "natural" trend is not limited to New York. At a showing by members of Intercoiffure America, some of the most prestigious hairstylists in the States and Canada presented their new Fall cuts. Most were short, very short. And very becoming to the over-40 face. But they all had one thing in common: they looked neat, soft and natural.

These hairdressers believe the older client who resists the softening trend can be "educated" that it can work for her hair. "The woman who says "but my hair will never stay' without backcombing and lacquer must be convinced it can and will look much prettier," says Bart Edmond, owner to two salons in Michigan. With the proper permanent to build body and strength, good conditioning and especially a good cut, every woman can have healthy looking hair, declares the Detroit stylist. "You should be able to shake it and have it fall into place."

Caruso, fashion director of the Intercoiffure America group, achieves the free and bouncy look by blunt cutting the hair ("one-layer only"), then setting it on large rollers and blow-drying.

How do you find a good salon in your home town? Caruso and Edmond suggest: call your local newspaper's woman's page editor, or if you see a woman whose style you like, just ask her where she had her hair done.

Lefooters Workshop Slated

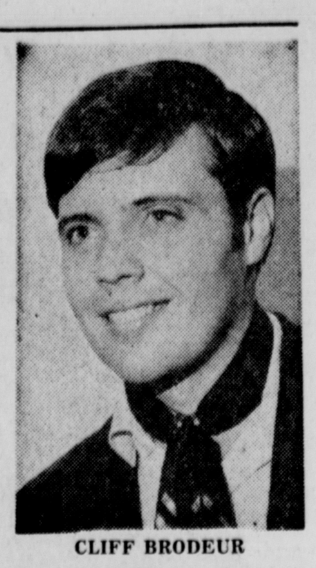

Lefooters Western Style Square Dance Club will open its fall workshop season on Tuesday night, Sept. 11, with the club's 10th annual "Fun Night" featuring club caller, Cliff Rodeur. It will be held at the Hurley Reformed Church Hall, off Route 209, starting at 8 p.m. no admission will be charged!

Cliff Brodeur began his square dancing career when he attended caller school in New Hampshire. His calling activities have taken him as far as Texas and he recently returned from a successful Southern tour. He calls regulary for six clubs in Massachusetts, Connecticut, and New York.

The Lefooters "Fun Night" is the first session of the new square dance workshop series designed to teach this form of dancing. Upon completion of the series, a couple will be qualified to dance with any square dance club in this country, Canada or in other foreign countries.

Western style square dancing is a serene, smooth, sliding dance that provides couples with, not only an enjoyable night out together, but a painless, healthful exercise. It also provides an opportunity to meet congenial peopel of all ages and from all walks of life because square dancers are noted for their friendliness.

All couples interested in investigating what western style squre dancing is all about are invited to join the Lefooters Tuesday night. You will be treated to a free lesson, facts about square dancing, refreshments, awards, and a short demonstration by club members to show the level of square dancing you will be capable of should you decide to attend and complete the series of lessons.

Mom's Treating Dad Like Three-Year-Old

Dear Abby

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Ever since I became an adult my mother has been pushing poor Dad around. She interrupts him to correct his grammar, tells him what to say, what to wear, and what to do. And when he talks on the telephone she literally stands beside him and prompts him as if he were three years old.

Dad doesn't like to be treated this way, but after a lifetime of fighting with competitors in business, all he wants now is peace at home. Occasionally he tries to assert himself, but it's such a hassle, he gives up and Mom wins again.

I've tried getting Mom interested in volunteer work, especially working with small children to satisfy her urge to boss somebody around, but she finds destroying Dad's manhood inch by inch more to her liking.

Don't tell me it's none of my business. If I hadn't grown up poor Dad wouldn't be in all this trouble. He's taking the heat meant for me. I wish I could help him.

SORRY FOR DAD

DEAR SORRY: Don't waste too much sympathy on "poor Dad." No man can be pushed around unless he surrenders his manhood. If you could convert some of your wishbone to "poor Dad's" backbone, you'd both have it made.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I went to a charity luncheon as a guest of a friend of mine. One of the door prizes was a trip to Hawaii. I won it.

Afterwards, one of the women came up to me and congratulated me and she said, "I hope the organization can expect a nice donation from you."

To tell you the truth, I hadn't even considered such a thing. I don't want to appear cheap. Should I send in the price of a luncheon ticket for a donation?

LOVELY HULA HANDS

DEAR HANDS: It would be a nice gesture. (P.S. Why not be a sport and make it a little more than just the price of the luncheon?)

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Recently I was in a drug store when a woman, who appeared to be about 60 came in grumbling about her "old age."

The druggist, a good friend of mine, pointed to me, and said: "This old gent is 87, and he seems to be doing all right."

The woman asked me how I did it, and I replied: "I don't smoke or drink, I attend church regularly and never fool around with more than one woman at a time.

She looked me in the eye, and asked: "Mister, what do you do for fun?"

I told her that I wandered thru graveyards and copied unusual inscriptions from the tombstones. It's true, but I'm sure she didn't believe me.

Low Cost Nutritious Meal

There were "vegetable" gardens all over the area this summer. Men and women are winning the battles of high food prices as they have the fun of teaching the little people how things grow. And to the delight of families who are "growing their own," the unforgettable flavor of fresh vegetables is becoming a delicious habit.

Women who watch the food budget (and who doesn't?) insist on nutritious meals for their families and look to their gardens for meals that are matchless for ideal ideas!

Often the one-dish is the easy answer to the homemaker's dilemma. Then a crisp, tossed salad, a fruity slaw or a gelatin mold is all that's needed to make the meal a filling, well-balanced adventure in good eating. And even those unlucky enough to be without a garden can purchase the vegatbles and still enjoy the meal.

It's easy to stuff an onion or a tomato or a green pepper. Just about a meal in itself, the vegetable takes to the stuffing and the dinner offers all the good nutrition expected of good food! Whether the base of the meal (onion, tomato or green pepper) comes from garden or store, it's smart planning and easy cooking. Six slices of bacon stretch a long way as the meat is sufficient for six stuffed vegetables. Fresh mushrooms, a can of condensed chicken broth, chopped vegetables and grated sharp Cheddar cheese are tasty "component parts" of the recipe.

The hold-it-all-together ingredient is an 8-ounce package of corn bread stuffing, a Southern favorite usually reserved for turkey and roast chicken.

Stuffed Vegetables

Six tomatoes, Bermuda onions or green peppers
Six bacon slices, chopped
One-fourth pound mushrooms, sliced
One package (eight ounces) Cornbread Stuffing
One can (ten and three-fourths ounces) condensed chicken broth
One cup chopped vegetables, removed from tomatoes, onions or peppers
One and one-half cups grated sharp Cheddar cheese

Slice tops from vegetables. Scoop out tomatoes leaving a shell one-half inch thick. With sharp knife, scoop out onions leaving a shell one-half inch thick. Parboil onions in water to cover until tender but still firm. Drain. Remove seeds from peppers and parboil in water to cover for five minutes. Drain. Chop vegetables removed from tomatoes, onions or peppers to make one cup to be used in the stuffing.

In large skillet, fry bacon until brown and crisp. Add mushrooms and saute until wilted, stir in stuffing, chicken broth and reserved chopped vegetables. Use mixture to stuff desired vegetable. Place vegetables side by side in shallow baking pan and sprinkle with cheese. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) for 35 to 40 minutes. Makes six servings.

STUFFED VEGETABLES — It's easy to stuff an onion or a tomato or a green pepper with Pepperidge Farm Cornbread Stuffing and it's oh, so good. Just about a meal in itself.

Yogi Berra Does Best Job He Can

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) —"I'm doing the best I can, I can't do any better."

Yogi Berra really doesn't have to say that because that's the way it always has been with him from the first day he ever put on a professional baseball uniform 31 years ago with the Norfolk Tars of the old Piedmont League.

He's already in Baseball's Hall of Fame, proving his best as a player was more than merely pretty good, and he never has given any less as either a coach or a manager.

With the Mets, he is never late to the ballpark, never hangs around the bars and never tries any of his charm on the ladies—"Carmen would kill me."

Unlike some other managers, he always accompanies the club, cooperates completely with it both public relations AND promotion-wise and is genuinely solicitous of his coaches' welfare.

Circumstances are such now, however, that every day he's being hit by another rumor.

The Mets definitely have made up their minds to make a change at the end of the season . . . Billy Martin will be the new manager next year . . . If it isn't him, then it'll be Whitey Herzog. Why not? Didn't the Mets go to the same club when they wanted the late Gil Hodges?

Yogi Berra isn't deaf, dumb or blind.

He reads all the rumors in the papers and hears them on radio and tv.

If they bother him, and they certainly must, you'd never know it by being around him.

"What are you gonna do?" he shrugged, sitting behind his neatly-kept desk in the Mets' clubhouse before Wednesday night's ball game with the Phillies.

"Some of those rumors have to bother you, don't they?" I asked him.

"I don't care about 'em," he said. "I'm doing the best I can. I can't do any better. I think I did pretty good considering . . ."

"Considering what?"

"Considering we were 12 games back once. We're still in it, you know."

Berra was subjected to considerable second-guessing following last Sunday's contest in which the Cardinals came from behind to beat the Mets, 7-4.

The defeat was especially difficult to reconcile because the Mets took a 4-1 lead into the sixth inning and then when starter Jon Matlack lost something off his fastball and gave up a run, Berra brought Buzz Capra in from the bullpen instead of Tug McGraw, his relief ace. Capra immediately was clipped for a two-run shot by Tim McCarver which tied the score and the Cards eventually went ahead. Some are still going around saying Yogi blew the ball game, and more important, perhaps —a chance to cut the Cards' lead to 4-½ games and make a substantial move in the National League East. McGraw would seem to be the more logical relief choice.

"Oh, shoot," Berra snaps over that move in question, "I don't give a damn what anyone says. They've got a lotta time to think everything over. I gotta make my decision like that. . ."

He snapped his fingers.

"So what if I brought in Capra?" he says. "If he got 'em out, it's a great move and I'm a genius. Why did I bring in Capra instead of McGraw? I'll tell you why. He had the most rest. Three days. Besides, he did a good job his last time out. He did good his last five times out. He allowed only one run."

Now as for all those rumors: The Mets have not really made up their minds yet. They have not had a board meeting but they undoubtedly will within the next few weeks.

If the Mets should somehow come in and win of course, then there would be no real decision to make.

If they don't win, people like Billy Martin, Whitey Herzog and Hank Bauer will be considered. Possibly Earl Weaver, too, if the Mets feel the Orioles might give him up.

Yogi Berra won't be tossed completely aside if he's let go as manager. The Mets will have another job for him, if he chooses to accept it.

"If they wanna make a change, it's up to them," he says. "I'm doing the best I can."

50-Year Sounds Record Is Gift To Yankee Fans

NEW YORK

"Yankee Stadium — the Sounds of 50 Years," an original 32-minute long-playing record will be the nostalgic farewell gift to all fans attending the last game of the season at the Stadium on Sunday, September 30. The Yanks will be hosting the Detroit Tigers in the last game of the Golden Anniversary season of the Stadium, and the final day of the famed Stadium's existence before it is completely rebuilt over the next two years, while the Yanks play at Shea Stadium in 1974 and '75.

The seven-inch record with micro-grooves that result in a unique new process that produces the equivalent of a 12-inch long-playing record is being produced by Fleetwood Records of Revere, Mass. The recording was designed by the Yankees to include most of the historic events of the last 50 years.

Narrated by Mel Allen, long-time "Voice of the Yankees," the record includes many original "calls" of baseball, football and other events; some recreates, and reminisces by participants in the greatest sports events of the half century.

Included on the record are the voices of Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Joe DiMaggio and Mickey Mantle, Don Larsen's perfect World Series game, exciting events of top World Series in which the Yanks participated, Roger Maris' 61st home run, New York Giant football highlights, Joe Louis' knockout of Max Schmelling, Pope Paul VI's "Mass for Peace," and scores of other highlight events.

The record in an attractive jacket will be available ONLY at Yankee Stadium on Sunday, September 30, and is not for sale. Tickets for the Yankee Stadium farewell are available now at the Stadium and at all Yankee and Ticketron outlets.

In 9-Inning Thriller

Greenbacks Take Lassies Pennant

SAUGERTIES

Diane Myers, recently voted the Saugerties AA Lassie Softball League's Most Valuable Pitcher, justified the selection by pitching and batting the Greenbacks to a thrilling 4-3, nine inning victory over the Love Bugs in the leagues championship playoff contest.

Miss Myers limited the Love Bugs to four hits, struck out 14 and drove in the winning run in the bottom of the ninth. Earlier in the season, she had pitched the YWCA team to the championship in the Kingston City Girls Softball League.

Karen O'Reilly, the league's Most Valuable Player, yielded 13 hits and didn't strike out a batter, but she was tough in the pinches and stayed with Myers until the ninth inning, the fourth extra inning of the game.

Greenbacks jumped to a 2-0 lead in the first inning and after Love Bugs tied it in the second the teams battled through five scoreless innings of the regulation contest. Each scored a run in the eighth.

The Greenbacks wrapped it up in the bottom of the ninth when Gail Yelle led off with her third hit of the game. With one out, she moved to third on Sharon Seuss' third single, then just beat the throw to home plate after Miss Myers' sharp single to center.

Linda Erney's two-run triple put the Greenbacks ahead 2-0 in the first and the Bugs capitalized on Miss Myers' lone streak of wildness to tie it in the second. A single, three walks and a sacrifice fly got their pair across. The Love Bugs escaped a one-out, bases loaded jam in the second and the Greenbacks shut them off with a two on and no-out situation in the sixth.

In the eighth, Jeanine Costello tripled and scored on a sacrifice fly to put the Love Bugs ahead 3-2. But in the bottom of the inning, Brenda Whitaker's two-out single tied it again at 3-3.

Gail Yelle led the Greenbacks with a double and two singles. Sharon Seuss added three singles. Jeanine Costello led the Love Bugs with a single and triple.

Perry to Coach Swedish National Team

STONE RIDGE

Mike Perry, Ulster County Community College's successful basketball coach and athletic director, who is on sabbatical leave this year, has been named coach of the Swedish National Basketball Team.

His responsibilities in Sweden will be to conduct clinics and help promote basketball among males and females from youths to college-age. In addition, Perry will select and train the Swedish team in various tournaments throughout Europe. Included will be competition in Russia, West Germany, Italy, and the Scandinavian countries.

Perry will go to Sweden Tuesday and remain there until next April.

"It's a great opportunity, naturally," said Perry, "It will give me a chance to see what's happening basketball-wise in the European countries.

"I'm told that basketball is to Sweden what soccer is to the United States," he continued. "It's growing and it's extremely competitive."

Perry came to the attention of the Swedish Basketball Federation through the recommendation of Richard Berg, basketball coach at Dowling College of New York City. Berg annually runs a summer camp in Sweden and was asked to take the National coaching job. But when he couldn't rearrange his schedule to accept the position, he suggested Perry, whom he knew would be free this year.

The Ulster County Community College coach, whose basketball teams have won 179 games against only 47 defeats, one of the best records in the National Junior College Athletic Association, will be based in Stockholm. The two-time Region XV Coach of the Year doesn't expect to run into any language problems:

"There won't be any problem," he explained. "Kids over there learn English from the second grade on." Perry doesn't speak Swedish.

Perry will be greeted upon his arrival in Stockholm by one of Sweden's leading sports writers. The scribe was contacted by his American firend Floyd Pattterson, the former heavyweight champion from New Paltz whose brother lives in Sweden.

MIKE PERRY

Patterson is teaching several courses at Ulster this fall.

Perry's Ulster teams have won the Mid-Hudson Conference and Region XV championships for two straight years. The Senators were fourth in the National torunament at Hutchinson, Kansas last March, and have been ranked nationally several times, attaining a seventh place position at one point last season.

Ulster has won the Mid-Hudson Conference crown five times in the league's seven years.

Jerry Moss, the former Ulster All-American who joined Perry as an assistant last year, will coach the Senators this season.

Perry played his basketball at Siena College in Loudonville where he became the protege of the late Dan Cunha, -that team's famed coach. Cunha earned a nationwide reputation for his great defense, something Perry has inherited and used effectively at Ulster.

In addition to basketball, Perry has also coached Ulster teams and they have earned much respect in the Conference and Region. His top squad was the 1969 group which won the Regional title and competed in the nationals in New Mexico.

Perry has also supervised a full-scale intercollegiate atheltic program at Ulster and has headed up an active intramural program.

He has served on the staff of several basketball camps, including one run by Walt Frazier of the Knicks. He is a member of the International Association of Basketball Officials, National Association of Basketball Coaches, and chairman of District II Basketball for Junior Colleges.

Perry has been sports director for Radio Station WKNY in Kingston for three years and formerly served as chairman of the Ulster County Parks and Recreation Commission.

Expos Step Up Pace

By The Associated Press

The Montreal Expos are in a pennant race. Isn't that just grand?

Yes, that is just Mike Jorgensen's grand slam.

The bases-filled blast Thursday led a 5-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs that moved the Expos into second place in the National League East, three games behind the St. Louis Cardinals.

That brought noisy approval from the partisan crowd at Montreal's Jarry Park.

Montreal's fans have every right to go beserk, if they wish. The expansion club came into the league in 1969, but hasn't had a bona fide contender until this year.

In Thursday's only other National League game, the San Diego Padres nipped the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-2.

In American League action, the Detroit Tigers beat the Cleveland Indians 10-4; the New York Yankees stopped the Milwaukee Brewers 8-6; the Chicago White Sox blanked the Minnesota Twins 6-0 and the Oakland A's tripped the California Angels 6-4.

Padres 3, Dodgers 2

Fred Kendall singled home Dave Roberts with the decisive run in the sixth inning, giving San Diego a 3-2 decision over slumping Los Angeles. The loss was the seventh straight for the Dodgers, who dropped 2½ games behind the front-running Cincinnati Reds in the National League West.

Indians 10, Tigers 4

Chris Chambliss slugged two home runs, one with the bases loaded, to power Cleveland to a 10-4 decision over Detroit. Chambliss' grand slam shot keyed a seven-run inning in the fourth that put it away for the Indians.

Yankees 8, Brewers 6

New York scored four times in the eighth inning, three on a homer by Mike Hegan, to beat Milwaukee 8-6. The Yankees loaded the bases and scored their first run of the rally on a sacrifice fly by Thurman Munson.

Hegan then blasted his fourth homer of the year against the foul pole in Yankee Stadium's right field. The four-run rally wiped out a three-run uprising by Milwaukee in the top of the inning.

White Sox 6, Twins 0

Stan Bahnsen checked Minnesota on four hits, pitching Chicago to a 6-0 triumph for his 18th victory. The White Sox provided the right-hander with the only support he needed in the first inning.

The White Sox scored two quick runs off Dan Fife as Pat Kelly opened with a double, Jerry Hairston walked and Bill Melton and Carlos May came through with run-scoring singles.

A's 6, Angels 4

Two relief pitchers helped Vida Blue win his 16th game in Oakland's 6-4 triumph over California. Blue held a 6-3 lead but was knocked out of the game on Frank Robinson's 25th homer in the eighth inning.

Horacio Pina came into the game at this point, but needed help himself from Paul Linblad.

IT WAS A BUSY DAY in major league baseball Thursday. The Yankees unloaded the Alou brothers with Felipe (L) going to Montreal for an undisclosed amount of cash and Matty (2nd from L) moving to St. Louis for a player to be named later or cash. The Pirates, meanwhile, trying to repeat in the National League East, fired Manager Bill Virdon and replaced him with former boss Danny Murtagh. The latter led the Bucs to world championships in 1960 and 1971, then quit because of a heart condition. He will be 56 next month, but feels he has the stamina to take on the task of making the Pirates champs again. (UPI)

Shula Finds Out How Others Felt

By United Press International

Don Shula is finding out how all the other guys felt last year.

Last seaon, Shula's Miami Dolphins could do no wrong as they compiled an unprecedented 17-0 record and captured the Super Bowl. Things haven't gone so smoothly this year.

The Dolphins struggled to some tough victories, were finally tied and then last week were upset by Minnesota to see their 23-game winning streak snapped. Thursday night they again blew a big lead as they had the previous week in Minnesota and again a field goal in the final seconds—this time a 22-yarder by Toni Fritsch with three seconds left —allowed the Dallas Cowboys to win 26-23.

"It's the second week in a row now that we've lost on a field goal in the last minute," Shula moaned. "It used to be that the Dolphins were pulling out victories at the end but now it has turned against us. We would like to have come out with two victories in these last two games but if you are going to lose, this is the time to do it."

Miami scored first half touchdowns on one-yard runs by Jim Kiick and Larry Csonka and a six-yard pass from Bob Griese to Marlin Briscoe and a safety on a snap out of the end zone on a punt to lead 23-6.

But the turning point came late in the first half when Dallas stopped the Dolphins four times inside the two and then intercepted a Griese pass when Miami had possesion on the Cowboy 14.

Roger Staubach threw a 26-yard TD pass to ex-Dolphin Otto Stowe with 26 seconds left in the half to make it 26-13 and Craig Morton took over in the second half to spark the winning rally.

Fritsch kicked a nine-yard field goal and Morton tied the game with a six-yard TD pass to Stowe with just under seven minutes left. He then moved the Cowboys into position for Fritsch's winning kick late in the game.

The Staubach-Morton combo left Dallas Coach Tom Landry with a problem—who'll start at quarterback in the Cowboys' regular season opener next week.

"The announcement will be made in a few days after we study the situation," Landry said. "When you name a quarterback to start the league opener, he's usually No. 1. I'm not going to make a decision that is definite forever.

"There will be a starter. That is for sure. Somebody has got to start. I just think we have got two good quarterbacks. We are going to try to win with both quarterbacks. You have got to have two quarterbacks to win. You can't just have one."

In pre-season action tonight, Kansas City is at St. Louis, New England at Detroit and San Francisco at Los Angeles while on Saturday, the New York Giants play Cleveland at Akron, Ohio, the New York Jets meet Philadelphia at Tampa, Fla., Oakland is at Buffalo, Green Bay at Cincinnati, Atlanta at Pittsburgh, Minesota at San Diego and Houston at New Orleans. Baltimore is at Denver and Chicago at Washington on Sunday.

In news from the camps Thursday, Washington traded defensive end Donnell Smith to New England for rookie safety Brad Dusek and Cincinnati traded running back Jess Phillips to New Orleans for a pair of draft choices.

New England waived placekicker Charlie Gogolak and defensive end Jim White and claimed a pair of rookies, running back Bob McCall from Cincinnati and defensive end Nate Dorsey from Pittsburgh.

San Diego cut five players, including veteran running back Jesse Taylor, and Buffalo gained a brother combinaion by signing Jim Seymour, the former Notre Dame star released by Chicago earlier this week. Seymour's younger brother, Paul, was a high draft choice of the Bills and is now starting at tight end.

Senate Approves Lifting Blackouts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Seventy-six football fans who happen also to be members of the U.S. Senate have voted to limit football blackouts.

With six senators voting no, they approved Thursday a bill that would forbid television blackouts of home games that are sold out 72 hours in advance.

The bill goes to the House, where similar legislation was being prepared in hope of final passage before the football season begins Sept. 16.

But National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle doesn't buy the idea.

He told a House hearing Thursday he might cut back or cease all television coverage of NFL games if Congress passes the measure.

Rozelle said the bill would severely damage professional football by reducing ticket sales and attendance.

"If it should ever come to that," he said, "the NFL would prefer to greatly modify its television practices—or to abandon television in its entirety—rather than experience the result of a significant, direct conflict between television programming and gate attendance."

Although the bill would apply to all professional sports events, its sponsors left no doubt it was aimed at pro football's practice of blacking out television coverage for a radius of 75 miles from a home game. Both the Senate and House bills would apply for one year.

"This blackout is inimical to the public interest," said Sen. John Pastore, D-R.I., who was floor manager for the Senate bill.

ABA to Name Mike Storen

NEW YORK (UPI) —The American Basketball Association is expected to name Mike Storen its third commissioner in 14 months today.

Storen, former general manager and president of the Kentucky Colonels and now a league consultant, is the leading candidate to replace Robert Carlson, who resigned Thursday to return to his practice of law.

Carlson became commissioner of the ABA in July, 1972, replacing Jack Dolph. He told the league's trustees at a meeting in Chicago Thursday he had given himself one year to achieve consolidation of the ABA and the rival National Basketball Association.

"While that may have been overly optimistic, I believe that the ABA has made significant progress toward that goal during the last 12 months," Carlson said. "The decision to return to my law firm was a difficult one for me as I do not like to leave a job undone.

"On the other hand, my one-year leave of absence from the firm has expired, and it has urged my immediate return. I feel, moreover, that I can render valuable service to the league as a lawyer and a member of its merger committee."

"We accepted Bob Carlson's resignation with regret," said Tedd Munchak, president of the ABA. "He has done much for our league during his tenure as commissioner and we will greatly miss him. The league looks forward to continuing to work with Bob on merger, expansion and television possibilities for the ABA in his capacity as lawyer."

At the trustees' meeting, the announcement of Carlson's resignation was the only news that was released. No mention was made of the Memphis franchise situation. There have been reports that club owner Charlie Finley might want to sell the team or might still try to move it. Another possibility that has been mentioned was for the ABA to take over the Tams and then dissolve it.

Finley, still at his home in Indiana recuperating from a heart attack, was represented at the meeting by his attorney, Bill Myers.

Six Share Southern Lead

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — John Schroeder says the Southern Open golf tournament course reminds him of his finest hour on the tour when he captured the PGA Match Play title.

However, the 27-year-old La Jolla, Calif., player has plenty of company at the top of the original 144-man field after shooting a sparkling three-under-par 67. Five others are tied after Thursday's opening round of the $100,000 tournament over the par 70, 6,791-yard Green Island Country Club course.

They are tour rookies Artie McNickle and Larry Stubblefield, and veterans Grier Jones, Lou Graham and Don Bies.

Crucial Match for Evert

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI) —In a sense, Chris Evert plays the match of her 18-year-old life today in the semifinals of the U.S. Open tennis championships.

Chris, the darling of this tournament at age 16, and now a semi-finalist for the third straight year, opposes 31-year-old Grand Slam winner Margaret Court in the opening match of a day which will see the women's finalists decided.

Margaret has a goal today, too. Outwardly still serene after her loss to Bobby Riggs, she has played extremely well since the Mother's Day disaster, her record marred only by a peculiar 6-1, 1-6, 6-1 loss to Miss Evert at Wimbledon in the semis.

With Billie Jean King long gone in this $227,200 event, Mrs. Court wants to put her name forever in the Forest Hills record book by nailing down her sixth title here. She won her first as Miss Smith in 1962 her last in 1970 as Mrs. Court, when she completed only the second Grand Slam in women's history.

Rosie Casals, camera looped around her neck, said she thought Margaret would win.

For Miss Casals, this has been a trying tournament. Her close friend, Billie Jean, had fallen to the heat and Julie Heldman in the third round, and when she herself had a shot at Chris in the quarters, she failed.

That she and Billie have gained the finals of the women's doubles, where they will oppose Mrs. Court and Virginia Wade, is small consolation to Rosie, even though she and Billie put out Chris and Russia's Olga Moroozova, 6-2, 6-1, on Thursday.

Final singles match of the day sends the lithe Evonne Goolagong against West Germany's Helga Masthoff. Miss Goolagong, the Wimbledon winner in 1971 at age 19, failed dismally here a year ago, going out in the third round to lttle known Pat Teegarden. Evonne wants this second major title of her career very, very badly, and many feel she wll get it, no matter whom she may face in the final.

The men's semifinals will be played Saturday, after Jan Kodes, a 6-2, 4-6, 6-1, 3-6, 7-5 winner over Nikki Pilic on Thursday, protested the plan to have Ken Rosewall meet John Newcombe today.

The Wimbledon winner claimed it would be unfair to him or to Stan Smith to meet the Rosewall-Newcombe winner after that winner had had a day's rest.

Officials agreed, so Rosewall, at 38, will have two days rest before meeting the 29-year-old Newcombe.

Smith had moved effortlessly into his semi on Thursday by brushing off Onny Parun of New Zealand, 6-3, 6-3, 6-2.

Demont Didn't Have Revenge on His Mind

BELGRADE (AP) — Rick Demont remembers losing his gold medal in the Munich Olympics because medicine he took for asthma contained a forbidden drug but revenge for the disappointment was not on his mind at Belgrade.

He simply wanted to reestablish himself as the world's leading swimmer in the 400-meter freestyle.

Demont, a 17-year-old from San Rafael, Calif., got his wish Thursday when he set a world record of 3:5.1 for the 4008 meters at the World Championships. He nosed out his old rival Brad Cooper, who received Demont's gold medal at Munich, by one-half second.

"This was no revenge," Demont said. "The most important thing is that I went under four minutes. . .

Americans continued their dominance in the men's 200-meter butterfly, with Robin Backhaus of Redlands, Calif., winning in 2:03.32 and Steve Gregg of Wilmington, Del., second.

The United States swimmers carried a slim lead of 10 gold medals to nine for East Germany into today's competition.

Keena Rothhammer of Santa Clara, Calif., who won the 200 meters here, will be after her second gold mdal in the 400 meters while Stan Carper of Portland, Ore., is the leading American entrant for the men's 200-meter medley.

U.S. swimmers were rated a heavy favorite to capture the gold in the 800-meter freestyle relay, anchored by Jim Montgomery of Madison, Wis.

Lynn Colella of Seattle, Wash., is the leading American in the 200-meter breast-stroke and Melissa Belote of Springfield, Va., is a strong contender in the 200 backstroke. The East Germans have won both the 100-meter back stroke and breaststroke.

Fearless Forecaster Returns

The Major Returns Modest as Ever

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
Fearless Forecaster

HOOPLE MANOR

Egad, friends, here we go again on a high school and college football season which promises to be one of the most thrilling we've ever experienced. And that's quite a statement following last year's nail-biting week-by-week saga — heh-heh!

My computer has been freshly oiled as have my assistants Mod King and Mr. Two Iron. You no doubt are aware that the net result of all this preparation will be pigskin prognostications of amazing proportions.

Yas, dear readers, whether it be a hard-to-figure Ulster County Athletic League clash or a head-scratching Dutchess County Scholastic League showdown or a key college collision, you'll find the final outcome on these pages each Friday.

We are already pouring over facts and figures for next week's initial scholastic schedule (who do you like, Kingston or Beacon?), but as a warmup, we present today for your perusal our first collegiate choices.

The Old Boy Himself

Right off the bat, two of the titans — Nebraska and UCLA —bump bodies in a game which might well determine the final national standings — un-kumph! And just like last year when UCLA stunned Cornhuskers, we look for Mark Harmon and the dazzling runners James McAllister and Kermit Johnson to lead the Uclan's wishbone to a 2-20 victory — har-umph!

The Hoople three-star upset special is Sonny Randle's East Carolina club of the Southern Conference whacking the North Carolina State Wolfpack of the more highly regarded Atlantic Coast Conference. That's the way it shapes up. We make it: East Carolina 24, N.C. State 21.

Elsewhere, we look for Arizona to edge Colorado State, 14-12, and Memphis State to pull a mild surprise by slipping a good Louisville club, 17-15.

Among the other games, it will be: Clemson 21, Citadel 8; West Michigan 26, Central Michigan 16; Dayton 24, Youngstown 13; Grambling 27, Long Beach State 21; Mass. 22, Holy Cross 14; Mississippi 36, Villanova 21; Virginia Tech 30, William and Mary 20; Virginia 27, VMI 13; and North Illinois 35, Indiana State 28.

AN ORIGINAL — Hall of Famer Urban (Red) Faber, one of the Chicago White Sox's all-time pitching greats, holds ball and glove on eve of his 85th birthday to show how he used to load ball in the days when throwing a spitball was legal. He recorded a remarkable 20-year major league record of 254-214 and ERA of 3.15. (UPI)

Sommers' .654 BA Leads B Curcuit

SAUGERTIES

Hank Sommers of Orville and Arlene's led B Division hitters with a robust .654 average, according to final official figures in the Saugerties Softball League. Mahogany Ridge B captured the team championship with a record of 11 wins and 3 losses.

Steve Perks was runnerup in batting with .592. Buster Buel of O&A edged Dick Miller of MRB, 22-21, in the race for most runs batted in. Harold Swart of MRB posted the best won and lost record for pitchers with 13 wins and 2 losses.

Home Runs—John Freligh, O&A, 4; Herb Whitaker, RO, 3; Buster Buel, O&A, 3.

Doubles—Butch Myer, RO, 7; Triples—Dick Miller, MRB, 5.

Butch Myer of Rosner's Oasis led in doubles with seven and Dick Miller of MRB had most triples, five.

With the title already lost, the runnersup Orville and Arlene's used their final game to rout Rosner's Oasis, 11-1, and make a clean sweep of the batting titles. John Freligh belted a homer to reign alone with four. Buster Buel needed three RBIs to take that crown and did so, bagging the last one on his final turn at bat with a solo homer.

Bill Kelsch won the stopped with a neat five-hitter. Frank Kelsch backed him with a homer, double and single. Jerry Jones had a homer and single and Buel added a double to his four bagger. Butch Myers led Rosner's with a double and single.

Sawchuk Perfect Score

ST. REMY

Brian Sawchuk hit 25 straight and posted a perfect 1.000 score to lead Wednesday night's Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club trap shoot.

Frank Weist Jr. was runnerup with a .980 and 50 straight. Then came Bob Maine Sr., Jim Palkowics, and Ray Markle, each with .960. Palkowics had 25 straight.

Others in the top ten were: Paul Kristofy, .920 and .25 straight; Paul Woerthaman, .900; and Bill Costello, Nick Mauro, and Bob Schmedake each with .880.

Bill Kopf's .880 was top skeet score. Bob Maine Jr. had .780 and Brian Sawchuk posted .750.

A practice shoot for the upcoming Federation Field Day will be held Sunday at the Walker Valley range.

Beekman Armory AA Champions

KINGSTON

Beekman Armory emerged as the surprise team in City Slo Pitch AA Division playoffs, terminating Papa Joe's winning streak at 14 straight and outlasting Anchorage I in the Shaughnessy finals.

A seven-run fourth inning rally furnished the cushion for the 12-11 squeaker over Anchorage 1, after the 5-4 win over Papa Joe's in the semi-final round. Joe Wilson pitched both games for the Armory, which had a modest 9-5 record in the regular season.

Anchorage moved into the finals with a 9-6 triumph over Capri 400.

Tony Johnson's two home runs figured prominently in the semi-final nod over Papa Joe's. The Armory trailed 4-1 at the end of four innings. A Johnson homer highlighted a three-run sixth and Beekman's won it with a single tally in the top of the seventh. Pete Schwartz and Kip Zimmerman also collected two hits.

Bob Smith stroked three singles and Ray Lindhorst, Joe Nalepa and Ron Thomas had two apiece for Papa Joe's.

Tom Royce knocked in three runs with a pair of homers and a single in the 35-hit championship game. Mike Antalek collected a double and three singles for three ribbies. Tony Johnson hit his third homer of the playoffs for Beekman's.

Dan Vogt slammed a single, double and homer to pace Anchorage's 18-hit assault. John Vogt homered and Doc Norton stroked three singles.

Five home runs highlighted Anchorage's hard earned 9-6 semi-final victory over Capri 400. Dan Vogt and Juice Barnes hit two each and Rinky Dugan accounted for the other. All three finished with three hits.

Don Van Keuren led Capri with three singles.

Steve Mizerak At Newburgh

NEWBURGH

Steve Mizerak, four-time U. S. Open Pocket Billiard champion, will play two exhibition matches Sunday, Sept. 9, at the Empire Billiard Lounge.

Mizerak, who has held the Open title since 1970, takes on Art (Wags) Weygant of Newburgh in a 150-point match at 2:30 p. m., then goes against Earl (The Pearl) Herring in a 150-pointer at 8:30 p. m. He will do trick shots after each exhibition.

Tickets are on sale at the Empire Billiard Lounge, 145 Broadway, Newburgh.

Hospital Softies Ready For Big One on Saturday

KINGSTON

Kingston Hospital men's and women's softball teams will meet in a post-season exhibition game Saturday (Sept. 8) at Upper Hasbrouck Park, with the women favored to win. Game time is 3 p.m.

The women's team, captained by Mary Senor, finished second in the Women's City Softball League, with a record of 11 wins and three losses. The men, with a record of six wins and six losses, ended in fifth place in the City of Kingston Men's Slow Pitch League.

Larry Sicheri, men's manager, expects Anthony R. (Tony) Triulzi, the hospital administrator, to be his starting pitcher. In reserve will be Lee Taylor and Dan Jacobs, his fastball . . .

Reporter: Wait a minute. What's a fastball pitcher doing in a slow pitch league?

Manager Sicheri: We'll be playing by the girl's rules.

Sugar Senor will be on the mound for the women. They admit to a lack of reserve pitching staff, but contend they won't need it.

Both teams expect to have a number of long-ball hitters in the lineup: Dan Jacobs, Tom Gallo and Rich Van Kleeck for the men; Sugar Senor, Kris Wungal, Ruth Dohney and Karen Peone for the women.

A family picnic will follow the seven inning contest.

Your Horoscope

Saturday, September 8

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Interesting friendships can be continued or started now. Good judgment and interesting activities can be realized by those who want to make humanitarian progress. You are able to make progressive gains in social activities.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) A fine day for contacting good friends and making new contacts. Plan new recreations and hobbies that are more to your liking. Show more devotion to family in the evening.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You are now able to contact influential persons at recreations. See what can be done about improving your credit rating. Use a practical approach. Take time to engage in amusements.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Take a trip to whatever place will open up new vistas and profitable outlets for the future. Take a more definite approach to what has been impossible to achieve in the past. Be firm.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Confide a plan you have to loved one and get the cooperation you need to make it a success. Put tasks behind you that are vital although they may seem unimportant at this time.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) As associate needs your cooperation and advice now, so be sure to give. Take part in civic affair that you enjoy. Do something constructive about an emotional problem you have.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Adopt new appliances that can make your work less tedious and save time, strength and bring in more benefits. Find the right apparel that makes you look more charming and up-to-date.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Getting together with individuals you truly like can make this a most pleasant day. Show loved one more devotion and affection and deepen the bonds between you. Be helpful to others.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Some changes at home can make the conditions there more pleasant in the future, so cooperate with kin more closely. Make the home more functional and add more comforts. Be more cheerful.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Good day for visiting new places and taking in pleasures that give you a feeling of happiness. Think along more optimistic lines. Cheer others up. Do something constructive.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Making improvements at home would be welcome now and a fine way to spend the day. Meet with financial expert late in the day and get new and better ideas for advancement in the future.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Entertain or be entertained by good friends whom you want to remain in your life far into the future. Put that fine gregarious quality into constructive use at this time.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Follow your intuitive promptings and know where to go so that you can become more successful in the days ahead. The evening can then be fine for the romantic side of life.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those delightful young people who will want to be of service to others and for this reason would do well in personnel work, nursing and in the social service fields. Education should be directed in pleasing the public. The nature is a discriminating one. Teach kindness early.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

WHY WE SAY

TO EAT CROW

WAR STORY: When you "Eat Crow" you admit that you made an error. The origin of this expression probably dates back to the war of 1812 when according to legend, a U.S. Soldier shot a crow in Canadian territory. A British officer demanded the soldier's gun and to teach him a lesson forced him to taste the crow. When the soldier got his gun back he held it on the British officer and forced him to eat it all.

It is something to think about: making air pirates walk the plank at 30,000 feet.

The only time we resent airgate searches is when then are NOT carried out.

It's bad enough to be sitting in a wing seat with 30,000 gallons of hi-test kerosene under you, without some creep with a pistol in his pocket sitting beside you.

Those TV comedians who come across with a passel of gags should be wearing them instead of telling them.

Today, most of the "beef" comes from the customers, not from the meat counter.

No matter how many "phases" they go through, "Phase X" will still not be able to deodorize even itself.

Honesty may still be the best policy, but it won't buy you much protection in a goodly number of high places.

To many husbands, "spending" money is what the wife lifts from their own little hoard between pay days.

The late Albert Morehead was too busy with his writing to play much bridge. When he did play he was inclined to indulge in whimsical bidding, but generally he was crazy like a fox.

His heart overcall was as sound as an old fashioned dollar, but would not have made against the bad breaks.

South hated to rescue Al but did run to two clubs. West passed. Al was delighted with clubs but didn't see how his partner could get to play any reasonable club contract. Finally he decided to try a trap and bid two hearts. East doubled happily.

South tried two spades. West doubled that and now Al ran to three clubs. By this time a doubling rhythm had been established. East doubled that also.

West opened a trump, but the lead didn't do the defense any good. There was no way to defeat three clubs and Al had stolen the rubber.

Was East entirely to blame? No. Just about 80 per cent. West should have bid two diamonds directly over South's two clubs so he gets a small part of the total blame.

'NO COMMENT'—Donald Nixon, brother of President Nixon, waves off newsmen with a "no comment," after newsmen spotted him amongst the invited guests to the opening ceremonies of a Marriott Hotel in Los Angeles. Newsmen attempeted to have him answer questions regarding news stories that the President had ordered Donald's phones tapped partly because of concern of the President's brothers' involvement with the financial empire of Howard Hughes. Nixon's Tape Fight To Appeals Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's fight to keep Watergate tape recordings secret has reached a federal appeals court, which agreed to hear the case in an unusual nine-judge session next week.

White House lawyers Thursday asked the U.S. Circuit Court to nullify U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica's demand to listen to the tapes, which are sought as evidence by the Watergate grand jury.

The appeals court gave Sirica and special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox until next Monday noon to reply to the White House arguments that the courts have no power over a president. A hearing was set for Tuesday at 1 p.m.

In other Watergate developments Thursday:

—A member of the Senate Watergate committee staff confirmed that the panel has told more than 100 large U.S. corporations to say whether they gave illegal donations of company funds to any presidential candidate last year.

Seven corporations already have admitted to special prosecutor Cox that they made illegal donations to President Nixon's re-election campaign.

—Judge Sirica denied a request by the Senate committee for a speedy hearing on its own legal battle to get the Watergate tapes. He gave the White House until Sept. 24 to reply to the Senate's lawsuit. Sirica ruled last week on the request by the grand jury and Cox, but Thursday the judge said he "is determined not to be rushed into a half-baked job" in the Senate lawsuit.

—Sirica also said there is an important question as to whether the committee has legal standing in the case. He could throw the case out of court if he decides he has no jurisdiction.

—In Los Angeles, former White House aide Egil Krogh Jr. pleaded innocent to charges of burglary and conspiracy in the 1971 break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist. Three other former White House officials indicted in the case, including former chief domestic advisor John D. Ehrlichman, were expected to enter their pleas within a few days.

—White House spokesmen would neither confirm nor deny a report by The Washington Post that President Nixon ordered the Secret Service to wiretap his brother Donald. Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said, "I am certain after checking that any monitoring of the President's immediate family by the Secret Service would have been related to the protective function performed by the Secret Service."

—Cox asked Sirica to deny Ehrlichman's request to be relieved from further appearances before the two Watergate grand juries in Washington. Ehrlichman's lawyer had said a fourth appearance by the former White House aide would be "unreasonable and oppressive."

Break-in 'Mistake'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Egil Krogh Jr. says he regrets the "mistake" of White House efforts to get Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatric records. But he says he felt the plan was fully authorized and lawful.

The solemn Krogh, speaking publicly for the first time about the 1971 break-in at the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist, said he was told the "covert activity" was necessary for an "urgent security purpose."

Krogh, who supervised the secret White House "plumbers squad," pleaded innocent Thursday in Los Angeles Superior Court to charges of burglary, conspiracy and solicitation of a burglary. Then he broke his long public silence on the break-in.

"I distinctly feel now that the decision that was made in 1971 to go forward with the covert operation was a mistake," Krogh said in a courthouse corridor news conference. "I felt it was a mistake immediately thereafter when details of its execution were presented to me."

The square-jawed Krogh said the plumbers unit was formed in 1971 by President Nixon. He said the legal defense at his trial would center around instructions he received about the break-in's relation to national security.

Krogh, 34, said he had "some real regrets over what has taken place in terms of injury to innocent persons." But he said he wanted to stress that "at the time in 1971 when this job was presented to me as something of extreme national importance, that what I undertook was fully authorized and lawful."

He did not say whether he would contend that any of his orders came directly from Nixon. In a sworn affidavit he signed during the Pentagon papers trial, Krogh referred to Nixon's orders to plug information leaks. Former presidential counsel John W. Dean III told the Senate Watergate committee that Krogh had told him orders for the break-in came from "the oval office."

Krogh, once a close aide to presidential adviser John D. Ehrlichman, was indicted Tuesday along with Ehrlichman and former White House employes David Young and G. Gordon Liddy on various burglary and conspiracy charges.

Dem Leaders Prepare 'Must' Bills

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional Democratic leaders have drawn up a list of bills they call "musts" for this session, including pension reform, aid to education, campaign spending reform and training people for jobs.

President Nixon, meanwhile, is preparing a new State of the Union message for congress containing his legislative priorities, including measures to deal with the energy crisis, housing proposals and administration proposals on education and job training.

In an effort to put the two packages together and get some measures passed, Nixon Thursday invited Democratic leaders to meet with him at the White House next week to discuss plans.

But the Democrats took pains to assert their independence. "The joint leadership noted that the Congress does not perform at the behest of this president or any president," Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and House Speaker Carl Ablert said in a joint statement.

In legislative actions Thursday:

— The House voted 357 to 37 to give Amtrack $107 million to run passenger trains for another year and also to give it more autonomy from the executive branch. The bill goes to conference with a Senate measure.

— President Nixon formally vetoed legislation to raise the minimum wage from $1.60 to $2.20 an hour. He said it would add to inflation and unemployment and proposed instead a slower rise to $2.00 now and $2.20 next July 1.

— The House passed a bill to lower the interest rate on federal disaster loans.

— The House approved a bill to give President Nixon formal authority to hold down exports of agricultural or other products in short supply. The President is already doing this on his own authority.

House Majority Leader Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass., who Tuesday called on Congress and the administration to cooperate on legislation, will meet next week with White House domestic adviser Melvin R. Laird on that subject.

But O'Neill, was simultaneously talking toughly toward the administration. "President Nixon's economic policies have brought nothing but inflation and misery to the people," he said Thursday.

Progress on Mideast Impasse Still Months Away

WASHINGTON (AP) — The "highest priority" President Nixon has placed on making progress toward a Mideast settlement won't be translated into action for at least two or three months.

The main reason for not moving faster is the lack of a solid plan for getting negotiations started between Israel and the Arab nations, administration officials say.

Another reason given is the lack of confidence concerning American ability to influence either side to accept any proposal. The two sides disagree on preconditions for negotiations. Israel is willing to talk with no prior conditions, but the Arabs insist that Israel agree before negotiations begin to withdraw from territory conquered in 1967.

Nixon told his news conference Wednesday that both sides are at fault for the impasse. He added that American concern over possible shortages of Mideast oil has made finding a settlement the "highest priority."

But the officials in charge of finding the way to a settlement feel November or even December will be the earliest they will have any plans in shape.

First, they want to evaluate the conversations among the hundred or so foreign ministers who will attend the United Nations General Assembly this month.

The Mideast and the related oil situation is expected to dominate the U.N. meeting and may result in a full Assembly debate.

If that occurs, it won't be before October and American policymakers feel they must hold back any plans until the debate is over.

Another reason for delay is to evaluate the Israeli election on Oct. 29.

In addition, the administration admittedly faces problems in making its influence felt.

Nixon acknowledged the United States lacks strong influence among the Arabs.

This leaves Israel as the main target of Nixon's determination to find a way of influencing the Mideast situation, U.S. officials say.

Israeli sources in Washington, however, say that while they are sympathetic to the United States, their government will act only in its own interests and not because of American pressure.

Kissinger Set for Tough Questioning

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State-designate Henry A. Kissinger was expected to face hard questioning on secrecy and executive privilege at his confirmation hearings that begin today.

Kissinger, who is to appear before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, has pledged "a new and full partnership" with Congress in developing foreign policy.

He was named to succeed retiring Secretary of State William P. Rogers by President Nixon on Aug. 22, when Congress was in summer recess.

The next day, Kissinger told a news conference "the intention of the President, and my intention, is to establish a new and full partnership with the Congress in developing policies which are in the national interest."

Reaction to Kissinger's appointment generally has been favorable in Congress, where his performance in difficult international negotiations has been openly admired.

As national security advisor played a major role in the conclusion of last year's strategic arms limitation agreements with Russia and the Vietnam peace agreement last January.

In secret trips to Peking, Kissinger paved the way for President Nixon's surprise visit to China in February 1972.

The expected close questioning on the issues of secrecy and executive privilege stemmed from the dual role he would have as secretary of state and presidential advisor.

Nixon has said Kissinger would retain his position as assistant to the president for national security affairs.
